L. A. COUNCIL RATIFIES SEWER CONTRACT TODAY

Germany's President and Chancellor Officially End Ruhr Resistance

Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Sewer Contract Ratification by Los Angeles Council Today

ACCORDING to a telephone message received from Councilman Sam Davis today, the Los Angeles city council will sign a sewer contract with the Glendale officials at 3 o'clock.

Additional information reached us at about the same time from an Associated Press dispatch. This dispatch says the contract stipulates that Glendale must call an election within 90 days to approve of a bond issue for one million dollars.

ONE million dollars sounds like a lot of money, which it is. Glendale supplied with proper sewer facilities means more than a million dollars in benefits which will accrue to it. Glendale without a sewer is impossible to consider much longer. We must have proper sewage disposal facilities in order for our city's growth to continue.

* * *

REGARDLESS of the cost we can delay no longer. The time is here when we must face the issue squarely and if it means the side tracking of other bond issues, well and good. As voiced in former articles we have always recognized the paramount importance of the sewer problem. While it was in an indefinite state we could see no reason for stopping all progress along other lines.

NOW that there is something definite to count on we are unqualifiedly in favor of bending all our efforts to the putting over of the bond issue for the sewer without promoting anything that would detract attention from it.

Regardless of how this matter is finally settled we must give credit to our councilmen for their efforts. They have done everything possible to protect their city's interests in the negotiations with the Los Angeles officials.

LOS ANGELES, no doubt, drove a hard bargain, but regardless of the terms exacted we are better off with a sewer than without one.

We hope our readers will appreciate the real seriousness of the problem and lend their support to the success of the bond issue when it is presented to the people for their consideration.

SEWER CONTRACT TO BE SIGNED BY L. A. COUNCIL

Stipulates Glendale Must Vote One Million Bond Issue in 90 Days

A telephone message from Councilman Davis received this noon gives assuranee that the signing of the proposed sewer contract between the Los Angeles City and the Glendale City Council is practically assured and that the same will be officially ratified this afternoon at a special session of the Los Angeles council at 3 o'clock. An agreement was reached this morning subject to a minor change in the wording of the document. Mr. Davis states. The conference was attended by Mayor Robinson, Councilman Horn, Councilman Davis, Chamber of Commerce officials and others who have been deeply interested in the negotiations.

According to Associated Press dispatches received by the Daily Press about the same time, the contract will stimpulate: "That Glendale shall hold an election within 90 days to approve of a bond issue of $1,000,000 for the establishment of contact between the Glendale sewage system and the Los Angeles sewage system and agree to pay for damage by earthquake or flood, the Los Angeles city council today decided that a contract shall be entered into tomorrow morning."

The city engineer was instructed to take immediate steps towards the securing of necessary rights of way along the Los Angeles river for the establishment of a sewer system within the city limits irrespective of whether Glendale will make a contract.

Under the terms of the proposed contract Glendale is to be given permission to build a trunk line sewer which would connect with Los Angeles' outfall system, this trunk line to be shared by adjacent suburbs and by Los Angeles territory through which it will pass.

It has been universally conceded that the welfare and future of Glendale depended upon the solution of its sewer problem. The signing of the contract will therefore be considered cause for general rejoicing. It will come high but Glendale cannot afford to do without it.

KEEP YOUR EYE PEELED GOOD FOR THE "REALTORS"

Keep your eye on "them realtors."

Pretty soon the members of the Glendale Realty board are going to put Glendale on the map—realtorically speaking.

They're going to Sacramento, to the state convention, October 10 to 13 and while there they will let the folks in that little "burg" know they are among those present.

Stunts of all kinds including singing by a male quartet, led by "Hatless" Hayward; addresses by Cam Thom, J. I. Wernette and a few of the other speechifiers., etc.. Pete Hanson and Bill Twining will also probably favor the company with a few oratorical handsprings, while Realtor McMillan may put on his "operation" stunt for the beenfit of those within the orchestra rail. Dr. Jessie Russell will chaperon the "gang of hoodlums" to the northern city.

This outfit's going to meet tonight at the office of Twining & Myers for the purpose of "hatching" some schemes that will "knock the rubes" of Sacramento absolutely dead—never a shiver left.

"Watch them realtors," says we.

EDUCATION BOARD CONSIDERS MANY SUBJECTS

Admission of Outside Pupils, Kindergarten Sessions, Some of Them

At its meeting Tuesday night the Glendale board of education again considered propositions connected with the admission of outside children to Glendale city schools. Relative to Burbank applicants a decision was reached to admit them on an exchange basis, as many Burbank pupils being accepted as Burbank will receive of Glendale students.

All the applicants from La Crescenta, and they are not many, will be admitted.

Concerning Los Angeles children, the board is still waiting for an answer from the Los Angeles board of education relative to compensation.

The board signed a contract with the Pacific Electric for a school rate for pupils of the Grand View school who have to go to Central avenue for certain classes in manual training.

It also accepted the sidewalk bid of Daniel Moran at 17c per square foot for a sidewalk at the Doran street school.

Bids for heating at Cerritos avenue were received and laid over for one week.

A letter from County Superintendent Keppel was read in which announcement was made that the first week of October has been named for the registration of minors from 3 to 18 years of age under the board of education, as required by law.

A new ruling was adopted in regard to kindergartens, viz.: That when attendance reaches 35 there will be an afternoon session as well as a morning session, part of the children coming in the morning and part in the afternoon, the teacher giving all day service. When sixty children are enrolled, an assistant will be provided.

Superintendent White reported that he will be gone the week of October 15 attending the state convention of superintendents at Riverside, at which he is obliged by law to be present. He was instructed by the board to attend the national convention of superintendents to be held in Chicago in February.

The bid of the Barnes Music Co. for a piano at $294.25 for the kindergarten at the Grand View school was accepted, and the bid of the H. G. Chaffee company for domestic science supplies was accepted.

As plans for the Cerritos avenue school prepared by Arthur G. Lindley are now ready for acceptance, Messrs. Hibben, Black and White were appointed a committee to inspect them, with power to act.

Superintendent White, Business Manager Black and Trustee Chase were named as a committee to negotiate further in regard to the purchase of lands which the board has had under consideration.

OKLAHOMA HOUSE DOES NOT HOLD SESSION

Lawmakers Dispersed by National Guard as Attempt Made

[By Associated Press]

STATE HOUSE, OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26.—Oklahoma's "rebel" legislators were dispersed by the military at noon today when they attempted to convene a special session of the lower house to seek the impeachment of Governor J. C. Walton.

The first of the legislators who arrived at the capitol building were met at the outer end of the driveways by military men carrying policemen's clubs and side arms. They were allowed to enter the building singly.

Only the guard officers carried arms.

The capitol building was guarded on all sides by the soldiers.

Only members of the legislature and those bearing military passes signed by Governor Walton were permitted to enter the building.

Representatives Frank M. Boyer of Tulsa and Marshal Smith of Hominy were the first house members to enter the capitol.

By 11 o'clock a dozen members had arrived.

Inside the capitol the military wore side arms. Two sentinels posted at the door of the house of representatives carried service rifles. Across the corridor a similar guard was posted at the entry to the senate chamber.

Other house members arrived in rapid succession. Representative McBee announced as he left for the capitol that the proclamation calling the extraordinary session and bearing the names of 64 members of the lower house would be filed with the secretary of state.

Colonel William S. Key, military commander of Oklahoma county, at 11:58 this morning read to members of the lower house of the state legislature the order of Governor J. C. Walton forbidding the assemblage of "any or all members of the legislature during the present period of unrest."

He ordered the legislators to disperse immediately and refused to amplify or explain his order in any manner when approached by leaders of the lower house.

The lawmakers began to disperse immediately without any show of resistance to the order of the military commander.

At 12:05 p. m. all the legislators had left the corridor outside the house chamber and the military were alone in command of the building. Colonel Key read his orders to the assemblage outside the door.

Everyone entering the capitol building was challenged. Attaches of the building assisted guards to identify regular employes and state officials. Newspapermen were required to present credentials signed by Governor J. C. Walton. Military headquarters had been established on the first floor rotunda.

A formal statement issued by the legislators at their hotel quarters shortly before 2 o'clock declared "the fight has just begun."

Representative McBee told the Associated Press that legal action was being prepared by attorneys for the assemblymen. He would not indicate in which court the petition for legal redress would be filed or when the action would begin.

"We have met the enemy and we are temporarily theirs, but the meeting of the legislature has just started," W. D. McBee, leader in the special session call, declared.

"The fight has just begun."

Laughlin Jeter Hurt in Auto Accident

Laughlin E. Jeter, 5176 North Hartwick street, Eagle Rock, was injured when machines operated by W. C. Cameron, 121 East Cypress, and Arthur Cornelius, 1400 East Colorado, collided, the accident taking place at the corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado street in Glendale at 7:20 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Jeter was taken to the office of Dr. H. C. Smith, where his injuries were attended to.

Laughlin is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Jeter, who lived in Glendale for a number of years. He is a fine Christian young man and is now in college.

THE WEATHER

California—Fair today, Thursday fair and warmer; light westerly winds.

LATE SPORTS

The singles tennis tournament of Glendale has reached the semi-finals. In recent games Urick beat Stillwell, 10-8, 6-3, and Fuller beat Windren, 6-2, 6-2. Urick and Baker will compete in the semi-finals, while Fuller and Riley will "cross rackets." The semi-finals will be held some time today or tomorrow and the finals will be held on the high school grounds Saturday afternoon.

Entries for the doubles tournament are now being taken by Mr. Tucker.

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—Bert Colima, Whittier, Cal., defeated Henry Melcar, claimant to the middleweight championship of the Pacific Coast in a four-round bout last night at the Vernon arena.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Joie Ray, America's star miler, will make another attempt this year to break the world's record for a mile. At this request a special mile handicap event has been added to the metropolitan penthalon in Newark, N. J., next Saturday, and six of the best milers in the district have been invited to compete with him.

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Final results in the third round of 36 holes in the professional golf championship today follow:

William MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., defeated Jack Strait, Hartford, Conn., 19 and 8.

Gene Sarazen, Briar Cliff Manor, defeated Alex Campbell, Cincinnati, 3 and 2.

Robert Cruikshank, Westfield, N. J., defeated Ray Derr, Glenside, Pa., 1 up.

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., Sept. 26.—After being three down to Alex Campell of Cincinnati on the first ten holes, Gene Saranzen, defending his title as professional golf champion, finished 18 holes, two up, in the third round today. The matches are at 36 holes. Sarazen made the morning round in 80 to Campbell's 82.

UPPER CLASSES NOT IMMUNE TO VOLSTEAD LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(United Press) Contrary to the popular superstition, its just as bad for the "nice" people and the so-called "upper classes" to drink, as for the lower classes to violate the dry law, declared Federal Judge Edward S. Farrington, in ordering closed a cafe catering to "high-class" patronage.

The stop was one of the moves begun by the prohibition forces here to make it impossible for San Francisco's erstwhile gay Bohemia to be gay through drinking. The dry law men are rapidly closing all the brightly lighted resorts along Columbus avenue and Broadway.

However, a well-ordered cafe may hope to be only closed for three months, while a place described by the dry law men as "rough" gets shut up for nine or ten months. Just what a "rough" place is according to dry law officers is to be explained.

New Million Dollar Telephone Building

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26. (United Press).—A new million dollar office building for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company here is planned, according to announcement of the company's officials. A three-story exchange building in Santa Rosa is also planned.

ISSUE CLEARING IN NAVAL WRECK INQUIRY TODAY

Blame Localized Between Navigators and Radio Men

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 26.—A perceptible clearing of the issue as to what caused the wreck of the seven destroyers off Point Arguello was noticeable today as the official naval hearing progressed.

From testimony so far advanced it appears that the blame has been localized between the navigating officers of the ill-fated squadron and the men in the isolated tower of the Point Arguello radio station.

The radio station men claim they informed the fleet that it was still north of the rocks. However, according to Captain Edward Watson, commander of the squadron, a reverse bearing was received from the station shortly before the crash which indicated that the boats were several miles south of the point. The station men deny that this bearing was sent.

In response to a direct question from Admiral William Pratt, head of the inquiry board, Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, captain of the Delphy, leader of the squadron, said that the wreck was caused by an error of judgment with contributory causes.

This error was that of the navigating officers who presumed, on the basis of their own reckonings taken from the speed of the propellers, that the rocks had been passed.

"I attribute the disaster, more than anythig else, to the fact that we got a northerly set of bearings when we had every reason to believe we were in a southerly set and to the fact that the Arguello radio station is a bilateral station," Hunter said.

SUICIDE TELLS DEATH PROGRESS IN CHRONICLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Old time friends, from whom he had hidden his poverty and sickness, paid their last respects today to Freddie Bogan, whirlwind featherweight boxer and near champion of three decades ago, who committed suicide yesterday by poison and gas. He wrote an extraordinary chronicle of his sensations while waiting for death.

The chronicle was addressed to Wehe and said:

"If this does not go I will have to make a hole in the ocean. I have gone this far and my wish is, as old Billy Jordan used to say, 'let 'er go.'

It is 10:30 and I am getting wide awake instead of sleepy. Can you beat that? It is 2 o'clock now. I have three jets open, I can't understand why I don't get sleepy.

"All ring battles seem to me today just like a dream. Look at what the boys draw down for a few minutes. A fellow like Johnny Kilbane gets more in one battle than I get in three.

"Three o'clock. It looks like another bloomer. It is after three o'clock. You can see how tough it is waiting for the time——.

"I am starting to get sleepy. I took enough white stuff to kill ten people."

"BULGARIA FIGHTS COMMMUNISM FOR WHOLE WORLD"

SOFIA, Sept. 26.—Bulgaria will "fight to the last ounce of her strength not only her own battle but the world's struggle against communism," said Premier Sankoff today in an interview. He asserted that communism, after shattering civilization in Russia, was trying to do Bulgaria a similar injury.

"The Third Internationale," he says, "plans to extend sovietism to the other Balkan states and then to sweep westward. In spite of our weakness we are determined to win the struggle or die in the attempt."

BUMPER RICE CROP IN YOLO

WOODLAND, Calif., Sept. 26. (United Press).—A bumper rice crop off the 6000 acres in Yolo county is promised. Hot north winds of the past few weeks have speeded up maturity of the crop by more than a week, according to growers. Threshing is possible now.

NEW ELECTRIC LINE TO L. A. TO OPEN BY JAN. 1

New 90-pound Rails to Be Laid Through Main Part of City

Brand new 90-pound rails and ties will be laid by the Union Pacific Railway company on Glendale avenue from the Forest Lawn cemetery to Lexington drive, according to an announcement made this morning by P. L. Hatch, general manager of the Glendale-Montrose Railway company, which concern is co-operating with the Union Pacific in the establishment of this line. The old track will be removed and the new one will be installed in its place.

Actual work on the construction of the new line will begin within ten days, stated Mr. Hatch this morning, and the Union Pacific expects to have the line completed and ready for operation before the first of 1924. The engineering work necessary for the electrification of this line is practically finished, having been in process for the past three or four weeks.

Satisfactory progress is being made in the construction of the substation that is being erected by the Glendale-Montrose company on Glendale avenue, between Broadway and Wilson. This building, it is expected, will be ready to receive the substation machinery, which will arrive in Glendale during December.

All possible speed is being made by the firm that is constructing the modern passenger cars for the Glendale-Montrose company, declares Mr. Hatch, and these should be delivered in Glendale some time before January 1. The electric freight locomotive purchased by this company, as stated in Tuesday's edition of the Press, will start for Glendale within two or three weeks.

The foregoing facts should mean something to those skeptical Glendalians, living in other than the Glendale avenue section, who have asserted that the line would never go in.

That this line, when finished, will be of value to the entire city cannot be doubted and will be plainly seen by those with even trifling vision.

The chances are extremely bright for the big opening of the Glendale avenue electric line on New Year's day. This would provide a rival attraction to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, at least so far as Glendale is concerned.

PACHECO PASS ROAD OPENED

THREE MORE AIRPLANE VICTIMS

QUEBEC, Sept. 26.—Three fliers were killed near Roberval today when an airplane loaned by the Dominion air board to the provincial government for surveying and forest protection fell 2500 feet into Lake St. John. The dead are Bernard De Salaberry, pilot, Ottawa; Alphonse Landry, observer, Kamcuraska, and Emile De Guise, surveyor, Chicoutimi.

GERMANY YIELDS OFFICIALLY AT LAST

President and Chancellor Issue Proclamation to That Effect

[By Associated Press]

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann announced in a formal proclamation today that the German government had been compelled thru bitter necessity to end the Ruhr battle. Adherence to passive resistance, said the document, would have brought on the economic collapse of Germany and consequently would have threatened the livelihood of the German people.

The government appeals to the nation to stand by the republic in is present hour "of severest soul-searching and material privation, as only thus can the nation's honor and life be conserved." The proclamation lays emphasis on the statement that in no circumstances can a particle of German territory be conceded to another power.

The nation is assured that the government will do everything possible to obtain restoration of "elementary human rights" for the German nationals evicted from the Ruhr and the Rhineland. The history of passive resistance is reviewed by the document, which sets forth that 180,000 men, women and children have been driven from their homes and firesides, while many millions no longer have any conception of personal liberty.

"More than one hundred of our fellow citizens have been forced to lay down their lives," it continues, "while hundreds are still languishing in prisons."

In regard to the monetary support given to passive resistance, the proclamation cites the fact that only last week the assistance given in the Ruhr amounted to 3,000,000,000 marks and that this would have to be doubled the following week. The cost of this assistance had made the stabilization of the currency impossible, it was pointed out.

"The entente now is able to give Germany peace," the document declared.

Neither France or Belgium will receive formal notification of the German government's decision to call off passive resistance, it is stated, it being assumed in official quarters that the government's proclamation gives due notice of that action.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Premier Poincare is awaiting the actual cessation of resistance in the Ruhr and compliance by the industrial interests there with the orders of the authorities of occupation before forming an opinion as to the significance of political events in Germany.

JAPAN TO FLOAT FOREIGN LOAN

TOKIO, Sept. 26.—The Japanese government is making inquiries in the United States looking toward the purchase of 120,000 tons of building material. As soon as the financial and economic policy of the government is definitely framed a foreign loan will be floated, it has been learned. All business firms who need assistance will be allowed to borrow under government auspices.

MOVIE FILMS OF QUAKE REACH NEW YORK

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Edward Stinson, piloting a junker all-metal plane and bringing what are said to be the first moving films of the Japanese earthquake arrived at Curtiss Field this afternoon from Seattle.

JAPAN HAS ANOTHER QUAKE

[By Associated Press]

TOKIO, Sept. 26.—Another severe earthquake occurred in Japan last Monday in the Hiroshima district. The quake was especially violent around the city of Kure. The extent of the damage has not been determined as communications between the region and the remainder of Japan have been severed.

Kure is in the extreme southwestern end of the island of Hondo and approximately 450 miles west of Tokio.

Floods have followed a typhoon yesterday in Fukagawa and Honjo, wards of Tokio. Many have suffered as a result, as thousands of refugees were encamped in rude shacks in these wards.

The storm damaged rice and other crops in many prefectures.

PROGRESS MADE IN ACQUIRING MORE WATER RIGHTS

At a meeting of members of the city council as a committee of the whole, Tuesday evening, Mr. Rich and W. E. Evans, representing the Bellehurst and Rossmoyne tracts appeared before the council to discuss the turning over to the city of the water rights of the Ross and Thom estates provided the city would install booster pumps and the proper distributing pipes. Council members indicated their satisfaction with the proposition which will give Glendale additional control of the Verdugo water holdings, but no official action was taken. Mayor Robinson states that the city has control of the water supply of Sparr Heights and plans to develop it still further by the sinking of wells.

ENGLISH DUKE MAY HELP POLO IN AMERICA

LONDON, Sept. 26.—In view of Great Britain's challenge to America's polo supremacy, there is great satisfaction at the report that the Duke of Westminister is considering the possibility of renewing his connection with the game.

The duke, a month or two ago, withdrew his team from the tournament contests and sold his famous stud of more than 30 ponies, because of an unfortunate dispute with the governing authorities.

It is thought at Hurlingham, Ranelagh and Roehampton that should the duke now decide to go to the assistance of British polo the invaders will have a good chance of another successful visit to America's famous enclosure at Meadowbrook.

The Prince of Wales already has placed his best ponies at the disposal of the British authorities.

EXECUTIVE BOARD GRAND VIEW P.-T. A. MEETS TUESDAY

A meeting of the executive board of the Grand View P.-T. A. was held Tuesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Guy Finney conducting the meeting.

Proposed activities of the coming year were enthusiastically discussed and many plans were suggested for financing the organization. The first to be put in execution will be a concert.

The furnishing of the kindergarten was considered to be the work which called for first attention.

The first regular meeting will be held the second Tuesday of October instead of the third Tuesday as October 16 has been reserved for a reception to be given in honor of the teachers in the school.

It was reported that many of the fathers in the district are anxious to have a fathers' auxiliary started. It was also decided to start a membership drive immediately.

WOMEN SAY MEN VAIN SEX AFTER ALL SID AND DONE

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, Sept. 26. (United Press).—Senior women are smiling disdainfully at the men at a late revelation of the men's weakness for having pictures of themselves taken, the women opining the male of the species is the more vain.

The university year book editors decided to have individual pictures of seniors taken this year for the first time. An assessment of $1.50 was levied. The men heard of the fee without a murmur and hurried away to the photographer. Not so the women. They held an indignation meeting to decide whether it was worth while to get a new camera slant at the old face and decided they weren't sure. Mehbe there'll be senior men and no senior women in the book.

NEW MAN AT HEAD OF RICKENBACKER SALES SERVICE

Lewis F. Reed, a resident of Eagle Rock and a man with 18 years' experience in the automobile business to his credit, has purchased the agency for the Rickenbacker car in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Burbank and Tujunga from A. M. Schoffner, who has been piloting the sale of these cars here for the past several months. Mr. Reed took hold of the reins bright and early Monday and since that moment there has been something doing around the "Rick" headquarters at 107 East Colorado street.

Mr. Reed's first three years in the automobile business were spent in Pasadena. From 1915 to 1922 he was with the Earl C. Anthony company in Los Angeles, agents for the Reo and Packard, having held various positions of trust and responsibility with that firm. On April 1, 1922, Mr. Reed became connected with the Leon T. Shettler company, Los Angeles, distributors of the Rickenbacker cars.

The ambition of Mr. Reed was to get in business for himself. Before making the "jump" he thoroughly tested out the wonderful qualities of the Rickenbacker car, especially the four-wheel brake feature, and decided that that was the car for him. Then he decided on Glendale as a field for action. The rest was easy.

To assist him, Mr. Reed has an efficient and experienced sales and mechanical force. There is "Jimmy" Zimmerman, formerly first technical service man for Leon T. Shettler, who has charge of the mechanical part of the local business. The salesmanager is Fred Vansickle, who has had 20 years' experience in the automobile selling business, having been with the Reo at Fresno. J. Baker, salesman, has a wide knowledge of the cars that are on the market today, especially the Rickenbacker.

Genuine service, courtesy and fair dealing are the features on which Mr. Reed will build his business.

"I'm not an inexperienced fly-by-night," said Mr. Reed this morning. "I know all phases of the automobile business and I'm here to stay. My business will be built on the firm foundation of truth, honesty and integrity. I know I have the car. It sells itself."

SIX HOBOES AND SIX CANS "HEAT"

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., Sept. 26 (United Press)—Six hoboes and 21 cans of canned heat. The canned heat distributed internally, instead of being used for outside heating purposes. The rest of the story is unnecessary. One man "dead," according to people near hobo camp who became alarmed at fight. "Dead drunk," cops found. A riot among the hoboes brought out the police and sheriff's deputies. One badly beaten "bo" was sent on his way alone, while the five others were brought to the city's hotel.

MADRIGAL CLUB DIRECTORS MEET WITH PRESIDENT

Members of the board of directors of the Madrigal club held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, 327 South Maryland. Plans were completed for the season's work and Mrs. Virginia Freeman was elected a director, to succeed Mrs. A. M. Draper.

The first meeting of the full club will be held at the home of the president Monday, October 1, promptly at 1:30. The First Congregational church has been kind enough to allow the club to hold its rehearsals there. The board of directors will meet the last Monday in each month.

A drive for members will start the second week in October and end the last week in November. The personnel of the club is divided into active, associate, student and patron members.

Associate membership entitles the holder to eight tickets, four for each concert, and to attendance on any club rehearsal, at a fee of $3.

Student memberships cost $1.50 and entitle the holder to two tickets for each concert.

Patron memberships are given for $5 and give the holder twelve tickets.

Mrs. Freeman is chairman of the active membership committee. Mrs. Bullinger is chairman of associate membership with Mrs. Kulp and Mrs. Vierick assisting.

Mrs. L. E. Richardson is chairman of student membership and will be assisted by Mrs. Cotton and Mrs. Tuttle.

Patron memberships are under the chairmanship of Mrs. Helen MacMullin, assisted by Mrs. Roberta Young, Mrs. Kugler and Mrs. Ray Bentley.

Several committees are to be appointed at the next meeting.

The club feels much honored by having for its president Mrs. Paul Hoffmna, who is a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

ALL MILK SOLD IN GLENDALE IS INSPECTED

Tests Made From Samples Are Collected Twice a Month

Glendale's health department now has an accredited milk inspection department under Dr. G. Kaemmerling and F. Sweet, dairy inspector. From now on every fortnight samples of all the milk sold in the city will be collected and taken to the local department for examination. The results of these bi-monthly tests will be averaged up at the end of four months and a milk score contest will be held. Returns from the scoring contests will be published as soon as available.

Dr. Kaemmerling states that they are for the benefit of the public and whenever any citizen of Glendale wishes information in regard to milk delivered in this city all it will be necessary for him to do will be to call upon the health department which will be glad to give out the official scores. The object of doing this is to improve the dairies that are now behind in their grades.

The value to the public of efficient and regular milk inspection was clearly demonstrated as a result of an official surprise milk scoring contest of the Glendale milk supply held during the past week by representatives of the Dairy Service of the State Department of Agriculture, Sacramento, California.

The results can be attributed to the supervision given the Glendale milk supply by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, M. D., health officer, and Mr. F. H. Sweet, dairy inspector, in co-operation with other local inspecting departments in this vicinity.

"There is a great direrence," says Dr. Kaemmerling, "between a graded milk and an uninspected milk. This was shown in the results of a milk contest recently conducted by the State Department of Agriculture of seventeen towns having a milk supply of ungraded milk. The milk examinations showed a general average of 65 per cent in contrast to an average score of over 90 per cent which is maintained for the graded milk sold under the supervision of an approved milk inspection department. Seventy-seven per cent of the towns having an ungraded milk supply had average scores below 80 per cent.

"The Glendale contest was held in the local health department laboratory. It was conducted preliminary to the awarding of approval by the state department of agriculture to the Glendale Milk Inspecting Department.

"Milk scoring is a part of the service extended by the State Department of Agriculture to all approved milk inspecting departments in this state. Only state approved departments are permitted to grade their milk supply. Approval only being granted where the local department meets he state standard of efficiency with respect to the manner of conducting the field and laboratory work. Where an inspecting department does grade its milk supply it actually meaus that such department is guaranteeing to the public that the milk is of the quality as indicated by the grade on the bottle cap. And furthermore that this guarantee is backed by the State Department of Agriculture.

"The grades of milk are uniform throughout the state, thus giving the public a definite index as to the quality of the milk offered them on the market.

"Milk is scored on the basis of bacterial analysis 35%; butter fat content 15%; flavor and odor 15%; solids not fat 15 per cent; sediment 10 per cent; acidity 5 per cent; and bottle and cap 5%, making a total of 100 per cent.

"The milk was judged by Dr. M. E. McDonald, market milk specialist, State Department of Agriculture, Sacramento, and Dr. F. P. Wilcox, State Department of Agriculture, Los Angeles.

"The results which follow include the average results of the milk examinations conducted by the local department for the past four months, and offer the milk consumer a reliable guide in selecting their milk supply:

GLENDALE HIGH

Twenty new students entered Glendale High on Monday, 14 boys and 6 girls, the enrollment Tuesday morning standing 1726. At the rate that additions are being made to the student body it seems probable that the 1800 mark may be reached by the time the school is transferred to the new buildings at Broadway and Verdugo road.

The Girls' League will have two assemblies on Wednesday for the installation of officers, one at 9:50 in the morning, the other at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Class meetings are featuring this week's calendar. The class of 1925 meets Thursday at 2 p. m. in the auditorium, and the 1926 class at 4:30 the same day in the same place.

Under the provisions of the constitution of the student body for class representation in the cabinet, representatives have been chosen as follows: 1924, Dante La Franchi; 1925, Richard Ryan; 1926, Ellsworth de Parcq; 1927, Marjorie Neilson.

The music department is arranging for two small groups from the orchestra to study the simpler forms of chamber music. One string trio composed of violin, violincello and piano has been organized and another will be formed soon. Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the department, states that there is material enough among the applicants to form two orchestras but owing to the half day sessions and the conflicts in schedules, it is impossible to arrange for the extra organization. It is possible it may be done in the second semester.

CAVANAH STUDIOS HAVE OPENED A MORNING SCHOOL

The Cavanah Studios have opened a morning school for children of all ages, the program for the work following somewhat as herein outlined: Singing exercises; concentration exercises; kindergarten application (for the younger children); grade school studies, such as arithmetic, geography, spelling, history, grammar; culture and etiquette; drawing and painting (oil and water color); reading, dramatic art, literature; Dunning system of music study for beginners.

In this schedule of study are found the five fine arts in addition to the public school grade work. Each subject is taught by a competent specialist. Every student is given careful consideration, and the individual needs are given more attention than can be accorded in the crowded public schools. The Cavanah Studios are at 130 North Orange street. NOTICE OF AWARD OF CONTRACT

Pursuant to Statute and to Resolution of Award of the Council of the City of Glendale, California, adopted the 24th day of September, 1923, directing this notice, notice is hereby given that the said Council, in open session, on the 20th day of September, 1923, opened, examined and publicly declared all sealed proposals offered for the following improvements, to-wit:

The Improvement of portions of Raymond Avenue and Tenth Street and of certain streets and alleys intersecting and terminating therewith in the City of Glendale

as described in Resolution of Intention No. 2027, passed by said Council on the 19th day of July, 1923, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work, and of the district to be assessed therefor.

The Council of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent assessments of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of seven per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27, 1893, and of all Acts supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof.

And thereafter, to-wit: On the 24th day of September, 1923, awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, to-wit: Hugh Cornwell and John W. Henderson, at the prices specified for said improvement in their proposal, on file for said improvement, to-wit:

Grading, per linear foot	$1.00
5" Gutter, per square foot	.25
3" Oiling and Macadamizing, per square foot	.11
5" Oiling and Macadamizing, per square foot	.15

And that said award has been approved by the Mayor of the said City of Glendale.

The truth that anyone who can afford a car costing in the neighborhood of $1200, can much better afford a Packard Single-Six at $2485, is becoming impressed upon the public mind more and more every day.

The final accounting is emphatically in Packard's favor. The Single-Six does cost more to buy it but it costs no more to keep. And the fact that it stands up so much longer, more than offsets the higher first cost.

as described in Resolution of Intention No. 2028, passed by said Council on the 19th day of July, 1923, to which said Resolution reference is hereby made for a description of said work, and of the district to be assessed therefor.

The Council of the City of Glendale determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent assessments of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars or over for the costs of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall extend over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the second day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid; and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July, respectively, of each year at the rate of seven per cent per annum on all sums unpaid until the whole of said principal and interest is paid.

Said bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to provide a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities and also for the payment of such bonds," approved February 27, 1893, and of all Acts supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof.

And thereafter, to-wit: On the 24th day of September, 1923, awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, to-wit: Hugh Cornwell and John W. Henderson, at the prices specified for said improvement in their proposal, on file for said improvement, to-wit:

Grading, per linear foot	$ 1.35
3" Oiling and Macadamizing, per square foot	.10½
5" Oiling and Macadamizing, per square foot	.15
Curb, "Class B," per linear foot	.50
Sidewalk, per square foot	.17
Cast Iron Pipe, complete	3,241.70

And that said award has been approved by the Mayor of the said City of Glendale.

Clerk's office, City of Glendale, California, 26th day of September, 1923.

A. J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

FIRST MONTHLY PROGRAM GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Was Given by C. of C. Under Auspices of Community Service

Not less than 300 Glendalians responded to the invitation to enjoy a program presented by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening at the high schbol under the auspices of Community Service. It was quite a get-together of home talent and pleased the audience down to the ground.

V. M. Hollister, as president of Community Service, presided and introduced J. Arthur Myers, who led in community singing, for which Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb provided the piano accompaniment. Mr. Hollister then outlined plans of the Community Service for the monthly meetings under various organizations. It was considered that the series should begin with the Chamber of Commerce. The next one, he stated, will be given on October 23d by the Exchange club which will present the Community band, which it is fostering. Mr. Hollister then introduced the president of the Chamber of Commerce as the program chairman of the evening.

"Mexico" was the general theme presented in a variety of direct and side lights by the returned representatives of Glendale who accompanied the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion to Mexico City.

Peter Ferry was first called upon and expressed his admiration for the country and his conception of what it might become if its resources could be properly developed. Its lack of good roads made an especially vivid impression on him as a road builden, and its primitive modes of transportation in consequence. It is not surprising, he said, that, rich as its soil is, it has lain fallow sa many years when about the only mode of transporting products to market is on the backs of little donkeys. He declared the people all assured the delegation that ten years of revolution have sickened them of it and no matter who may be the next president, there will be no more revolutions. They want a chance to progress. For that reason Mr. Ferry said he believed American capital could safely invest in the cheap Mexican lands.

Mayor Robinson, who came late on account of a meeting at the city hall, was tremendously impressed with the spirit of hospitality with which the excursionists were received. Nothing was too good for them, apparently, and no effort was spared to give them a good time. The first stop was made at the border town of Juarez and from there they went to Chihuahua, where they went by a military band in shabby uniforms but who played very beautifully a repertoire of German music inherited from the time of Maximilian, Emperor of Mexico, for a brief time in 1865-66. The mayor seemed to think the incident was typical of the lack of progress in Mexico. He said he had the pleasure of leading in the singing of the Mexican national air and the Star Spangled Banner, which were both sung lustily. Also, he boosted for Glendale whenever there was opportunity. When there was hurrah for Los Angeles he had some of his party lead in yells for Glendale.

Good speeches were made also by Dr. Jessie Russell, Herman Nelson and Charles Guthrie, all emphasizing the possibilities of Mexico and its most urgent needs.

Miss Yorba sang "La Paloma" wonderfully and the meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner led by Mr. Myers.

BUSINESS WOMEN GIVE DINNER AT TUESDAY CLUB

Banquet Is Followed by Wonderful Program of Music

Covers were laid for ninety at the dinner which the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club gave at the clubhouse of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Tuesday evening. It was a delicious repast provided and served by members of the Tuesday club at tables decorated with seasonal flowers.

The banquet was followed by a wonderful program arranged by Mrs. Virginia Freeman, member of club, who introduced some of her talented pupils, the accompanists of the evening being Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb, Mrs. Roberta Young and Mrs. Spencer Robinson, who played for the vocal number contributed by her daughter Julia, an old Scotch song, "Bonnie Sweet Bessie." It was sung most beautifully and demonstrated that a great future is ahead of this young girl.

The speaker of the evening was Miss Sara Grogan of Washington, D. C., who told of the aims and purposes of the Women's party in its program of bringing about by constitutional amendment to be introduced in congress December 2 by Congressman Curtis, the great republican whip, the purpose of quickly bringing about the equality of women before the law in all respects by the abolition of the legal handicaps that still exist on the statutes of many of the states. She briefly reviewed the history of the equal rights party from its organization by Lucy Stone and Elizabeth Cady Stanton to the present day, and paid a high tribute to western women to whom she said the movement owed much of its success. Her speech included some witty and satirical gibes at men designed to challenge interest which were received with good-natured amusement by the men in the audience.

Other contributors to the musical program were Mrs. Roscoe Puer, Jr., who has a full rich voice that justifies the preparation she is making for the operatic stage and who delighted her audience with a series of vocal numbers, two of them, "My Love Is Like Red, Red Rose," and "My Bonnie Jean," by Cecil Crandall, a Glendale high school boy. She also sang "I, a Nightingale," and "Spring Song of the Robin Woman," both by Cadman; "Soft Footed Snow" (Lie) and "Black Roses" (Sabelius).

Mrs. John Cotton sang the nonsense song, "Three Little Chestnuts," a tragedy in still life, and "Happy Days," in her usual very satisfactory way.

Misses Pearl Adair and Gretna Cordray sang in duet, "Regatta" (Rosini) and each sang in solo, Miss Adair giving "Pansjes" (Cox) and Miss Cordray "The Last Hour" (Kramer). Both received warm aplause, and so good was the work of the artists of the evening collectively that Mrs. Freeman secured several new pupils.

By way of variety, Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, president of the federation of Parent-Teacher associations gave two amusing child dialogues in her own characteristic and pleasing way.

This completed the program which was followed by dancing to very fine music provided by the Kelly Shrine orchestra, with cards for those who did not care to dance.

Twentieth Century Board Members Meet

About twenty-four members of the Twentieth Century club of Eagle Rock are to be entertained at the home of Mrs. A. G. Reily, president, 1750 Colorado, Eagle Rock, Thursday, September 27, at 11 o'clock.

Those present will consist of the members of the board of directors and all committee chairmen, and the business of the day will be the discussion of plans already formed and new plans for the coming year's club work and social life. Mrs. Reily will serve a dainty luncheon and is planning a delightful day.

Mrs. Reily, who was accompanied by Mrs. M. T. Lee, Mrs. C. I. Ritchey, Mrs. Rollin L. McNitt, and Mrs. S. B. Osborne at the Club Presidents' convention of the Women's Club Federation in Los Angeles Monday at Ebell club, will tell board members and committee chairmen of the discussions that took place and of some of the suggestions on club work that were made.

FRIENDLY GIRLS ENTERTAINED BY A PATRONESS

Mrs. E. A. Cory of 820 South Central avenue was hostess Tuesday evening for a big membership party of the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mark's church. A very nice program was presented which included:

Piano solo, "Reverie" (Schute), and Song (MacDowell), by Miss Lilla Litch.

Vocal solos, "Who Knows?" (Ball) and "Just An Old Song" (Schertzinger), by Mrs. Ethel Read.

Recitations, "Mrs. Clamor Hate's Notoriety," "My Chum" and "Fifty Years From Now," by Miss Adel de Voe Lloyd, a pupil of the Emerson School of Expression.

Contests of various sorts followed. Miss Louise Ayala won first prize in the string race, Mrs. Ethel Read first in the hobble race, Miss Muriel Gambril first in balloon race.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and assisting committee; the guests present being Hulda Isaacs, Ardes M. Hersong, Laura Clark, Marie Powers, Peggy Powers, Mrs. Powers, Ethel Read, Esther Veitch, Gladys Katterman, Thelma Johnston, Vera Witcher, Mrs. Philip Kemp, Mrs. Gaulrapp, Dorothy Sullivan, Gladys Lamont, Louise Ayala, Margaret Lou Cory, Adel de Voe Lloyd, Elizabeth Faries, Mrs. Cory, Muriel Gambrill, May Louise Grezer, Lilla Litch.

Surprise Shower for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rhode

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rhode, who were married September 21, were pleasantly surprised Monday evening when about 20 of their friends called at their home, 516 Milford street, to give them a shower. After a few games a string was handed to Mrs. Rhode and as she pulled yard after yard a little girl, Bobbie Morrow, appeared, drawing a cart decorated in pink, loaded with miscellaneous gifts. After the bride had untied the parcels, dainty refreshments were served by her sister, Mrs. Brassfield, and Miss Vesta Morrow. Mrs. Rhode was formerly Miss Faye Butler. During the evening a pleasant surprise was sprung on those present when the engagement of Miss Stella Bellue to Noel Carder was announced, the wedding to take place early in December. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brassfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Marsh and baby, Mrs. Mack Swaner, Mrs. Mattie Miller, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Joe Bellue, Mrs. J. Butler, Mr. Schmall, Ernest Butler, Noel Carder, Misses Vesta Morrow, Emily and Stella Bellue, Elizabeth Klan, Bernice Miller and little Bobbie Morrow.

RELATIVES ENJOY DINNER TOGETHER IN GRIFFITH'S PARK

An enjoyable relatives dinner occurred at Griffith park Sunday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Castile, 221 East Elk avenue, and a number of their friends gathered to shake each others' hands and talk over old times. During the morning the party gathered, and at noon a delicious picnic dinner was served beneath the wide-spreading branches of the sycamores.

After the repast games were played and some time was given to discussing the interesting incidents that occurred back in Iowa and Nebraska years ago.

Among those present beside Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Castile, were Mr. and Mrs. Will Greenzweight, Mr. and Mrs. Al Drain and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Castile, all of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Simon Castile and family, and R. Farrell of Long Beach; Mrs. Retha Kaussman of Iowa. From Glendale there were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Blaine Castile, daughter Alice; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Post and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Post and daughter, Mr. Catherine and Virginia, while Mr. and Mrs. Astlhammell and son Herbert of Culver City were also present.

Truths in Epigram

In books lies the soul of the whole past time: the articulate audible voice of the past, when the body and material substance of it has vanished like a dream.—Carlyle.

He ne'er is crowned with immortality, who fears to follow where airy voices lead.—Keats.

Be there a will, and wisdom finds the way.—Crabbe.

MEANNESS OF CRIME

Robbers stole a sum of money that had been raised by Los Angeles students for students who had lost their chattels in the fire at Berkeley. This theft was equivalent in its intrinsic meanness to the looting of a poorbox at the door of a church. The donors of the money had given checks to the telegraph company covering the amount. Thus they will have to make good the loss. Students do not average high in worldly goods. Many of them work their way through college. The losses at Berkeley were severely felt, and the loss imposed upon the Los Angeles students will be a heavy burden.

Just about the time this was happening a group of assassins shot a well known theatrical man for the sake of getting the money he carried. They escaped with $170 and their victim died. He left an invalid wife, with small children. Probably the stolen money has by this time been expended in drugs and bootleg whisky.

Crimes of this nature bear out the assertions of criminologists that there are many persons at large whose liberty is a menace to public safety. Similarly dastardly acts are of record daily. Occasionally the miscreants committing them are caught, but seldom, indeed, are they adequately punished. The public places them for a time in a comfortable place of detention, feeds and clothes them, and when they get tired of the routine, they ask for a parole, receive it, and renew their careers. Even to reach the point of conviction is a difficult task, although guilt may be absolutely plain.

There are types too mean too live, and yet they continue to live, and in a manner that seems to suit them, continue to prosper.

THE SURE REMEDY

In condemning what he termed "radical talk" a superior court judge scored fanatical experiments for the solution of political, social and industrial wrongs. He declared that ample remedy was to be found in the constitution. There will be instant agreement that such experiments are not desirable.

Probably a judge would be inclined to define as radicalism any expression of discontent with present processes. The courts themselves have been severely criticized. They have been charged with toleration of technicalities resulting in delay, in burdening the taxpayer, and often in the defeat of the ends of justice. Such criticism has come from law-abiding citizens, and from many papers of the first class. They do not assail the constitution. They do not suggest the inadequacy of that great document. They point to abuses of power wielded under the constitution. They inveigh against a system that does not to them seem in consonance with the basic principles of this government. They find fault with the interpretation put puon the expression of these principles. They cite acts that appear to them to have been transgressions. This does not make them radicals. To cling to the faith of the fathers is not to be a radical.

The really dangerous radicalism is a wandering away from plainly marked paths. The cure for it lies in the courts. Let them apply the law without fear or favor, and they no longer will feel the impulse to chafe under the disapproval of any part of the public whose approval is complimentary.

As for the red radical, the advocate and agency of destruction, he too would be restrained if taught respect for society through enforcement of the mandates of society. Perhaps if constitutional cure could not be found for his case, and least there might be found methods of restraint.

THE HERO APPEARS

L. E. Rhodehamel, engineman on the now shattered Delphy, comes into view as the hero of the tragic wreck. There is no surprise when the individual appears, for every great peril produces instances of heroism. There are men who face the most desperate danger with a courage almost sublime. Such a man is Rhodehamel.

A characteristic of valor is that it does not boast. Here also the outstanding figure of the recent naval disaster is true to type. He told of his own deeds only when the information was corkscrewed out of him while he was a witness on the stand. He did not seem to think much of them; part of a strenuous day's work, but he could not refuse to answer questions. He saved a number of lives by his personal efforts, while doubtless his cool exhibition of nerve did much to hearten those more inclined to fear.

There is talk of a medal for Rhodehamel. Certainly he has earned a material token. The navy has a right to be proud of the personnel in its subordinate departments. They are fine and devoted Americans. It happened that the opportunity to show the stuff of which he was made, come to this engineman. He knew how to meet it. Doubtless there were many others ready to take equal risk had circumstances demanded.

The officers and men of the navy are human, and so prone to err, but they can't be driven into panic.

HUNTING FIREBUGS

There is more than a casual hint that some of the recent fires, notably that experienced by Berkeley, have been the work of incendaries. It is almost beyond belief that a crime so base and so baseless could have been deliberately committed; but much that presents the aspect of impossibility, turns out to be true.

Certain of the radicals of the dangerous sort preach destruction. It is the doctrine of unreasoning hatred. Innate malice, at the sight of prosperity, seems to become a madness. There is nobody in the world who could benefit by destroying property. To burn the forests is to cause measureless hardship, yet out of the smoking ruins comes no desirable thing. Such a conflagration involves murder in many instances. It has behind it all the wickedness and deliberation of murder. It is intended to harm and to alarm society. The creatures poisoned by the theory of the torch have no vision; they cannot see beyond the flames they create.

Of course there is a type of mental degenerate known as a pyromaniac, happily very rare. He lights a blaze for the enjoyment of seeing it burn. Such a lunatic may not be held responsible, but there are so few of his kind that the total is not much to be feared. The ordinary incendiary is not a maniac, but a feeble and misguided mentality wrought to frenzy. He is as responsible as any other criminal. If caught there could be no excuse for ever letting him go.

Men guess at a thing and if it happens to come out their way they boast of their good judgment.

When his patients die the doctor excuses himself on the ground that they failed to follow his advice.

THE NEXT STEP

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Last night I read two gloomy predictions by eminent men.

The burden of them was that machinery, by taking from men the necessity of effort would eventually destroy the mental and physical vigor of the race and so annihilate it through inanition.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

Perhaps. We can't live, much less progress, without effort. That is certain. However, the interesting thing about invention is its endless possibilities of surprising one.

This morning the papers contained the account of an invention that promises to revolutionize society, change geography and open to mankind territorities hitherto uninhabitable because of cold.

Man for progress needs primarily two things, water and heat. By a trick of fate the warm countries—outside the tropics—have often been semi-arid while the cold countries have been abundantly watered.

Now comes an invention, perfected by William Thomas of Hollywood, which makes available the ever present heat of the sun for practical use.

Good-bye to the grip of the coal barons. The solar furnace generates such heat that, given water, man can warm any territory without the labor and waste energy of digging, cutting or manufacturing fuel. Tremendous lenses trained on boilers will generate heat enough to warm entire cities. Men and animals can with small expense live in countries heretofore uninhabitable. Alaska with its tremendous undeveloped resources can be made to blossom and become one of the great fields of man's development.

Men can live in the far north and develop in spite of machinery, for in the far north the idle and indolent do not long survive. You hustle or you freeze. With comfortable homes back of them men will gladly go forth to conquer nature. Freed from fear of freezing and from the labor of digging fuel from the bowels of the earth, he can devote his time to myriads of things that have so far been impossible.

The sun, plus invention, will free us of the vexations of the fuel question.

And perhaps this one invention may ultimately save the race from the enervating ease produced by too much machinery by taking it to new locations where machinery and human effort are both needful for the conquest of the elements.

Phosphates As Stimulants

By DR. EDWIN E. SLOSSON

During the war we heard all sorts of wild rumors about the German soldiers being given some secret chemical that endowed them with supernormal energy as they charged the trenches or endured forced marches. Doubtless various things were tried, including that old and unreliable stimulant, alcohol, and the newer and less exciting energizer, sugar.

But it has now been disclosed that most remarkable results in the increase of muscular power and endurance were obtained from the use of a well-known salt, called by the chemist, "sodium dihydrogen phosphate." This was given to the shock troops as they entered battle or during long marches in the form of a drink. To avoid the influence of psychological suggestion, which has invalidated so many tests with "poison squads" and experimental subjects, other battalions were served with a sham drink sweetened and flavored the same but acidulated with tartaric instead of phosphoric acid. At the end of a hard hot day the troops that had been treated with the phosphate were fresher in spirit and less fatigued in body than the others for some reason mysterious to them.

Since the war it has been found that giving phosphate drink to coal miners and farm laborers increased their monthly output without extra exertion. Horses and oxen given an ounce of the salt a day did more work and gained flesh. Here there could be no deception due to the imagination.

This practical and promising method of increasing human and animal efficiency came from the investigations of one of the foremost of German physiologists, Prof. Gustaf Embden of Frankfort university, on the chemistry of nutrition. According to this theory muscular energy comes from the breaking down of a substance called "lactacidogen," which he regards as a compound of sugar and phosphoric acid. This breaks down, when the muscle contracts, into lactic acid and phosphoric acid. Lactic acid, as it has long been known, accumulates in a fatigued muscle and has to be recombined or oxidized before the muscle can work again. So Embden reasoned that adding phosphate to the diet would hasten the combination of the phosphoric acid with more sugar and so relieve the fatigue. The war gave him the chance to experiment on whole regiments at a time and the results seem to confirm his theory.

The new stimulant has the advantage over alcohol or the alkaloids in that it is a natural factor in bodily process, and also in that there is no danger of intoxication from an overdose or of forming a habit. Doses up to a quarter of an ounce a day were given to the soldiers and laborers. More than this, and for some people much less than this, has a laxative effect.

The report of these experiments is likely to multiply calls for phosphate drinks at the soda fountains, but the anticipated increase of muscular vigor may fail to be felt, for when the man behind the marble counter mixes a phosphate he throws in a dash of a very dilute solution of phosphoric acid, and a person would have to take some fifty such drinks to get the amount used by the soldiers.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Pleasure is for life.
Yet life is not for pleasure.
Work is for life.
Yet life is not for work.
Play is for life.
Yet life is not for play.
Business is for life.
Yet life is not for business.

All things are for life.

Pleasure, work, play, business, laughter, songs, all things in their place and with their proper measure.

If life were for pleasure, then would we soon degenerate as a race into flippant and lazy idlers.

But pleasure is for life, in that life has a place for a full measure of pleasure.

If work were all of life then we should be beasts in a treadmill.

And yet life has its place for the full measure of work.

If life were for play, then we should be ever children, without responsibility or growth.

But life has its place for play, for without it we should grow stale, hard, machine like.

Man is not a machine.

He is more complex in his nervous and physical organization than the finest machine.

For he has that delicate thing called spirit.

That a machine has not.

* * *

So in that finely constituted organism all things are necessary that may work for development.

But in their measure.

Work for strength.

Play for release from tension.

A kind of lubricant.

Pleasure as a kind of reward or by-product.

The natural result of health, industry, spirit.

Business is essential in a civilization like ours.

But it is to sustain life.

Life is not to sustain business.

Otherwise we should be musty wares on a shelf.

* * *

Life is the important thing.

The broad development of the race.

Strong.

Capable.

Industrious.

Just.

Merciful.

Kind.

* * *

That comes from no single thing.

More than the kernel of wheat comes from a single element.

Rain and sun and earth and its elements have entered to the kernel by the strange alchemy of growth.

* * *

So life comes from no single thing.

Nor does high and splendid spirit come from any single thing.

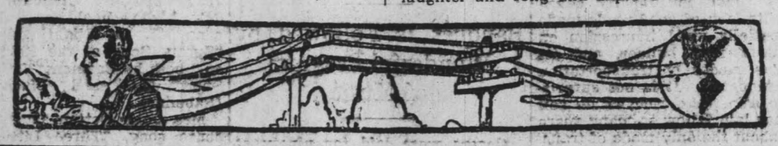
But from all things good of the spirit by the strange alchemy of growth and education and experience.

* * *

We cannot stand a man up on a platform and oil him and keep him continually at labor.

As we can a machine.

But we can let him work hard and play well and have his just reward of pleasure and laughter and song and improve the race.



Songs of the Poets

The Shepherd Boy Sings—By John Bunyan

He that is down needs fear no fall,
He that is low, no pride;
He that is humble ever shall
Have God to be his guide.

I am content with what I have,
Little be it or much
And, Lord, contentment still I crave
Because Thou savest such.

Fulness to such a burden is
That go on pilgrimage:
Here little, and hereafter bliss
Is best from age to age.

THE USE OF THE THEATER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WITHIN the theater there should be a serious purpose quite as much as within the church.

The whole matter of morality or goodness has suffered enormously from its champions. It has been conceived as a section of life, a phase or part of life, when it is in truth life itself.

It is the business of the theater to make life stronger, sweeter, sounder and altogether more worth living, quite as much as it is the business of the evangelist or the philosopher.

That this purpose should not be apparent, and that it is fatal to the theater to assume the attitude of preaching, does not alter this fact; indeed it emphasizes it.

The main difference between the theater and the church is that the play must be so well done, the hook must be so well baited, and the whole affair must be made so attractive that people will pay money to come and see it, whereas the church has always been suspicious of making its services too appealing to human nature.

But behind every play there is some sort of an idea and it is that idea alone that gives to the performance its final value.

For instance, two plays by Booth Tarkington have appeared this season, one called "Tweedles," and the other "Magnolia." Both of these are clever preachments against medievalism. In one it is the medieavalism of provincialism and narrow family pride; in the other it is the medievalism that prostituted the word honor to mean the superiority of brute force.

Both of these delusions have held wide and long sway over mortals and still prevail in the lowlands of intelligence.

The playwright baits his hook with a charming story and scintillating dialogue, and the result is that we swallow it greedily and never realize that it is a hook at all.

The fact is that people like preaching, only it has to be better done than anything else. Human beings are a kind of fish that will not snap at a naked hook.

They even like the preaching of evil, as is shown in the great success of the play called Rain," which preaches cynicism, and the bitterness of cheap infidelity, with a cleverness which few advocates of good are able to equal. It is the pure and undiluted gospel of the devil and it is mighty well done.

It is refreshing to see that there are artists like Mr. Tarkington who are quite as skillful in the propaganda of the warm, human and wholesome qualities of life.

People want to be decent, they want to be fair and honest, and they even want to be religious, and the public is immensely grateful to the artists who will show them how interesting and adventurous and alluring goodness can be.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

DEFYING FLAPPER VOTERS

[Memphis Commercial-Appeal]

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the Detroit automobile manufacturer, was honest and sincere if not politic in her denunciation of the "flappers" who crowded around her car at a Michigan lakeshore resort and asked for her autograph. We doubt not that her maternal modesty was shocked at the sight of the group who wore knickers so that a considerable portion of their bare legs showed, and we are certain she spoke the words of denunciation from her heart. Furthermore, what she said will probably be endorsed by the great majority of mothers throughout the nation, but it will hardly appeal to that large group of independent, self-willed young women who accept the designation of "flappers."

Evidently Mrs. Ford is entirely too honest and plain spoken to weigh or judge her words in their political implications. But she should know that as a good helpmate she must be of assistance to her husband in politics as well as in business and social matters. And Henry is on the brink of politics even though he has not yet made the plunge. As times goes by in political matters his estimable wife will find out that Machiavelli was more than half right when he said that words were made to conceal as well as to reveal thought. In politics candidates want friends and votes whether they be prudes or "flappers" and Mrs. Ford will learn that you can catch more votes, as you can more flies, with molasses than with vinegar.

At all events it is certain that in politics the least said is the easiest mended.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Henry Ford declared that history was bunk, but failed to win many encomiums for his wisdom. Now comes a film star to remark that "artistic temperament is bunk," thereupon alighting upon a great truth. To reduce the matter to common and yet impressive phrase she said a mouthful.

HENRY JAMES

The artist in any line who has reached a place of distinction of such eminence as to make him or her unique, or to have won the title of genius, is likely to be wholly inconsiderate. To be ill-mannered, brusque; to disregard the conventions, to display anger, jealousy, or other mean trait, is ascribed then to temperament. The truth is that boorish or shrewish conduct is the sign of nothing but a rotten bad disposition.

The singer sulks with the audience waiting, and she does so not impelled by artistic temperament but that she is naturally ornery. Other successful artists may have similar failings for the same reason. It is not because they are big, but because they are little. They have developed along narrow lines leading them to the delusion of grandeur, a most annoying mania.

Proper response to an exhibition of "artistic temperament" on the rampage, would be to fire the exhibitor if possible, or in instances where the offender is masculine, to land on the jaw.

There is a man in jail in Chicago for having stabbed his bride. He took this method of reproach because of her failure to cook spaghetti "a la Milanese" instead of "a la Neopolitan."

Evidently the court did not consider the excuse valid, or the husband would not be where he is. At the same time it is possible that the necessity for knowing how to cook to please the head of the house, has been emphasized.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE FAVORITE ROLE

Have you a dream for your child? Is there a line of work or conduct that you would have him follow? Set the stage for it and let him play at it when he is little.

What he plays when he is little goes a long way toward deciding what he works at when he is big.

The form of the idea may change, but the basic spirit of it usually stays.

For when a child plays his instinctive forces are hard at work and the thing he plays at is likely to sink into his unconscious self, his instinct self and stay there to color his deeds for the years he lives.

If you want him to be bold and aggressive and domineering the very best way to train him is to buy him a policeman's suit with a badge and billy complete and let him play he is arresting everybody in the house and hauling them off to jail.

Don't mind when he whacks you over the head. He is but preparing for the day when he whacks the neighbors of his day and generation over the head.

If you are aiming at any sort of "red-blooded, he-man, hundred-percenter" dress him in a fringed khaki suit with red neckerchief and belt with knife and pistols and let him lasso the furniture and the dog and the cat. If he catches the baby don't scold about it. The r-d, h-m, h-p's are always oblivious to weakness.

If you think you'd like a scholar in the family dress him in a cap and gown and surround him with books that have no pictures serious affairs full of print and let him lecture to you.

If you find that he discards his dress and game for another lad's outfit you'd better make up your mind that you picked the wrong one and begin again.

If, for instance, you thought you'd like a gentle retiring lad who stepped back and said "Excuse me," when a rude boy with red hair and freckles stepped on his dainty foot and you find that he threw off his belted jacket and pitched into that pugnacious one, perhaps it would be better to buy him a pair of corduroy knickers, a gray flannel shirt and a cap with a peak, adding a hat and a ball for good measure. He very likely would like to play at being a healthy, happy youngster taking and giving in his turn.

Anyway, think a little about his play. Shape it so that it will supplement your dream for him; supplement and strengthen his character toward it. Keep the sort of thing that will train him away from a sane, healthy, sincere outlook as far from him as possible.

Remember that what he plays he is; that what he plays at whole-heartedly, becomes a very part of him; and pitch his play so that it will bring out the very best side of him. Rather important, isn't it?

FOUR GLENDALE SCOUTS TO VISIT SANTA BARBARA

Will Represent Verdugo Hills Council at the Conference

Four outstanding Glendale Boy Scouts have been picked to represent the Verdugo Hills district council at the third annual Older Scouts' conference at Santa Barbara, September 28, 29 and 30, according to a decision of the District Court of Honor made public this morning.

Captain William C. Wattels, chairman of the Court of Honor, has been diligently scrutinizing the candidates' applications which were submitted by the various Scoutmasters and a final decision was reached Tuesday noon.

The four Scouts selected are Glenn Cunningham and Charles Bosserman of Troop No. 3, Glendale, and Robert Eastman and Kenneth Solomon of Glendale troop No. 2. In order to qualify as a candidate to the delegation each Scout had to be at least fifteen years of age, rank as first-class Scout and have qualified for at least five merit badges. Each of the Scouts chosen for the Verdugo Hiss district delegation is very active in his own troop and has good leadership ability.

The Scout council has selected Francis Henry of 224 Arden avenue to accompany the Verdugo Hills delegates as the adviser and couselor. Mr. Henry is the official "Pep-Promoter" of the council and is chairman of a committee which is studying the older boy problem with the thought of organizing an older Scouts club.

The Older Scouts' conference for 1923 will be held on the beach of the Pacific ocean in beautiful Santa Barbara, for the period commencing Friday afternoon, September 28, with dinner at 6:30 p. m., and continuing until Sunday, September 30 at 2 p. m.

The conference has the endorsement of the National council, Boy Scouts of America, and will be conducted under the supervision of the regional executive board for Region twelve. All delegates, including leaders, will live at camp and according to last reports more than two hundred Older Scouts from all over California will be in attendance.

"Opportunity" is the general theme selected for the conference and following are some of the subjects to be discussed: "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Home," "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His School," "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Community," and "The Older Fellow's Opportunity in His Church."

The Verdugo Hills Scout council will pay the entire expense of its four delegates and on their return to Glendale they will be expected to go before the various civic organizations of the community and tell of some of the interesting points of the conference. They are also expected to visit the various troops in the district.

STUDENT BODY INCREASES ITS BUDGET TO $5000

Students of Glendale high are ambitious and undaunted in their aspirations. At two cabinet meetings held within a week, the budget of the student body for the present school year was discussed and was increased from $3000 to $5075. The largest item in the increase is for boys' athletics which last year was allotted $1500. Coach Hayhurst had declared that if the school is to keep pace with other high schools with which it competes this amount should be increased. It was accordingly allowed $2250, the allowance for girls' athletics being $200.

The school paper, "G. U. H. S. Explosion," also came in for an increase from $900 last year to $1600. The allowance for the debating department was increased to $75. $200 was assigned for honor pins, the student body fund being made $450. The secretary of assemblies was allowed $300 for the year's expenses.

Of the $5075 budget, it will be necessary to raise $2925 by the sale of student body tickets, on which a price of $2 was fixed.

MARY IS STILL QUITE CONTRARY ABOUT HER VISITS

Mary was in Glendale again Monday night.

Seems just like Mary Gibbs of Los Angeles will not stay away from Glendale. There seems to be something about this town that appeals tremendously to her. Even the juvenile hall seems to be impossible to keep her in her home city.

Monday as Officer Young was making his rounds, he caught a glimpse of Mary dodging around the corner of a building. He gave a chase—and it was "some chase," says the copper. For several blocks persued and persuer ran neck and neck, but finally the officer's endurance won out. Officers Nunn, Hedrick and Young took Mary to police headquarters, where she was turned over to her mother, father and brother, who were awaiting her.

The prompt payment of debts is the one virtue lacking in many a man's makeup.

SUMMER LIBRARY COLUMBUS AVE. P.-T. A. SCHOOL

The summer library in Lyons' store, 407 West Doran street, where books were taken out by 146 persons this summer, has been open twice a week for twelve weeks. Most of the patrons were children but several adults made good use of the collection of books.

The start was made with less than 250 books but from time to time new ones came in, so that now there are 276 books and 14 copies of a children's magazine listed.

In twelve weeks a total of 899 books have been checken out, making an average of 75 books per week. The average for July was higher than that of August as very many children left Glendale for the mountains or the sea in August. There has been taken in $1.70 in fines with 30 cents still to be collected. After paying all bills there is left 60 cents in the treasury.

Four books have disappeared and two have been turned in. Although the books were not new, they have stood the wear and tear fairly well, and as they have been glued together again, they can still stand some hard reading.

The children of the district are eagerly awaiting the re-opening of the library, but first there must be some new books. So if anyone wants to help this infant library along, make donations of books to Lyons' store, opposite the Columbus avenue school, or let anyone connected with the school know and a way will be found to get the books.

Intensive Forestry Will Increase Timber Growth, Many Told

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The practice of intensive forestry will increase the annual growth of sawtimber in California from its present low rate of 156 million board feet to 3,600 million board feet, according to experts of U. S. Forest Service. The present growth in the pine region of the state is estimated at 76,000,000 feet per year, which can be raised to 2,700 million feet by the scientific management of the 16,800,000 acres of potential forest in this region. In the redwood belt, on the 400,000 acres of forest land, intensive forestry should produce 900 million board feet a year.

This stupendous increase, foresters says, shows the great need for an experiment station in California, where the methods which will result in this increased growth may be developed and worked out. Our agriculture was largely a hit or miss proposition until the agricultural experiment stations developed new methods of handling the land and new practices which greatly increased the production per acre. Forest experiment stations, it is asserted, will do the same thing for forestry, and the time to develop intensive methods is now while California still has many thousand acres of virgin forest in which, with proper methods of management, planting will not have to be done as in a great part of the forest regions of the east.

Crude forestry, or merely fire protection on our forest lands after cutting, will not produce the desired increase in growth, it is said. Under the crude methods of forestry now practised in our California timber, we can get only about 120 million board feet of pine by 1950, and about 240 million feet of redwood, a total of 360 million feet. This is but one-tenth of the growth that is possible under the best forest management. With an average value of $30 a thousand feet for lumber, crude forestry would produce an annual growth worth $10,800,000 or more than double what is being grown at the present time. Under intensive forestry such as would be worked out at a forest experiment station, the timber lands of the state should grow annually a produce worth $81,000,000 in the pine region, and at least $27,000,000 in the redwood region along the coast. With such wealth possible under intensive forestry, the small amount of money necessary to maintain a forest experiment station in California would be a most promising investment for the future prosperity of the state, say the Forester.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

J. W. Key, who recently purchased a lot on East Prospect avenue, is improving same with an attractive home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Spence have returned to their home in Fullerton after a delightful visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Spence of Highland avenue.

Mrs. Carl Duffey of East Honolulu avenue has returned from an extended stay at Catalina Island.

Mrs. Howard Reynolds visited relatives in Los Angeles during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klatt and children are at home after a two months' visit at Santa Ana and the beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orhmund and children were guests of Homer A. Baldridge last Sunday.

The Crescenta school district has 34 students enrolled at the Glendale Union High school this year, which exceeds all former registrations from this district.

La Crescenta will be represented at a number of universities and schools this year. Dean Culberson is a student at Cornell. Miss Florence Bruce is attending the Southern Branch of the University of California. Miss Jessie Conlin is in Chicago, a student at Northwestern. Miss Janet Culberson has registered at Miss Orton's school at Pasadena. Miss Loren Czerniski and Robert Kelso are students at Occidental.

TRILBY

SYNOPSIS

In the whole of Paris could hardly be found three more contented young Englishmen than the trio of artists—known as Taffy, the Laird, and Little Billee—who shared a certain studio in a side street of the quartier Latin.

Among their occasional visitors was one Svengali, a shabby, long-haired musician, whose presence was endured only because of his divine music. They were all in the studio one afternoon listening entranced to his playing when there was a loud rapping at the door and a strange figure entered—a tall, well-formed girl, wearing a soldier's overcoat, a short petticoat and a huge pair of men's slippers, her white ankles showing above them.

She looked around, smiling, and introduced herself as Trilby O'Ferrall, a model. She had heard the music and came in to listen. She was posing for Durien, the sculptor, on the next floor, she said, posing for everything, especially the feet. And kicking off her big slipper she proudly displayed "the handsomest foot in all Paris."

Indeed her feet were astonishingly beautiful and Little Billee was thrown into silent raptures of admiration. Svengali flashed his black eyes at her languishingly.

The talk veered to music, of which Trilby confessed she was very fond. Her favorite song, she said, was "Ben Bolt," which her father used to sing. In fact, she could sing it herself. So, politely encouraged by Little Billee, she sang, unaccompanied.

From her throat issued a volume of sound of fine quality, but never once did she hit upon a true note. Trilby, it seemed, was absolutely tone-deaf.

(Part I—Continued)

"Qu'est-ce qu'elle dit?" asked Svengali. And she said it all over again to him in French—quite French French—of the most colloquial kind. Her accent was not that of the Comedie Francaise, nor yet that of the Faubourg St. Germain, nor yet that of the pavement. It was quaint and expressive—"funny without being vulgar."

"Parpleu! he was right, Litolff," said Svengali. "I assure you, mademoiselle, that I have never heard a voice than can equal yours; you have a talent quite exceptional."

She blushed with pleasure, and the others thought him a "beastly cad" for poking fun at the poor girl in such a way. And they thought Monsieur Litolff another.

She then got up and shook the crumbs off her coat, and slipped her feet into Durien's slippers, saying, in English: "Well, I've got to go back. Life ain't all beer and skittles, and more's the pity; but what's the odds, so long as you're happy?"

On her way out she stopped before Taffy's picture—a chiffonier with his lantern bending over a dust heap. For Taffy was, or thought himself, a passionate realist in those days. He has changed, and now paints nothing but King Arthurs and Guineveres and Lancelots and Elaines and floating Ladies of Shalott.

"That chiffonier's basket isn't hitched high enough," she remarked. "How could he tap his pick against the rim and make the rag fall into it if it's hitched only halfway up his back? And he's got the wrong sabots, and the wrong lantern; it's all wrong."

"Dear me!" said Taffy, turning very red: "you seem to know a lot about it. It's a pity you don't paint, yourself."

"Ah! now you're cross!" said Miss O'Ferrall. "Oh, male, ale!"

She went to the door and paused, looking round benignly. "What nice teeth you've all three got! That's because you're Englishmen, I suppose, and clean them twice a day, I do too. Trilby O'Ferrall, that's my name, 48 Rue des Pousse-Cailloux!—pose pour l'ensemble, quand ca l'amuse! va-t-en ville, et fait tout ce qui concerne son etat! Don't forget. Thanks all, and good-by."

"En v'la une orichinale," said Svengali.

"I think she's lovely," said Little Billee, the young and tender. "Oh, heavens, what angel's feet! It makes me sick to think she sits for the figure. I'm sure she's quite a lady."

And in five minutes or so, with the point of an old compass, he scratched in white on the dark red wall a three-quarter profile outline of Trilby's left foot, which was perhaps the more perfect poem of the two.

Slight as it was, this little piece of impromptu etching, in its sense of beauty, in its quick seizing of a peculiar individuality, its subtle rendering of a strongly received impression, was already the work of a master. It was Trilby's foot, and nobody else's, nor could have been, and nobody else but Little Billee could have drawn it in just that inspired way.

"Qu'est-ce que c'est, 'Ben Bolt?'" inquired Gecko.

Upon which Little Billee was made by Taffy to sit down to the piano and sing it. He sang it very nicely with his pleasant little throaty English baritone.

It was solely in order that Little Billee should have opportunities of practising this graceful accomplishment of his, for his own and his friends' delectation, that the piano had been sent over from London, at great cost to Taffy and the Laird. It had belonged to Taffy's mother, who was dead.

Before he had finished the second verse, Svengali exclaimed: "Mais c'est tout-a-fait chentil! Allons, Gecko, chouez-nous, ca!"

And he put his big hands on the piano, over Little Billee's, pushed him off the music-stool with his great gaunt body, and, sitting on it himself, he played a masterly prelude. It was impressive to hear the complicated richness and volume of the sounds he evoked after Little Billee's gentle "tink-a-tink."

And Gecko, cuddling lovingly his violin and closing his unturned eyes, played that simple melody as it had probably never been played before—such passion, such pathos, such a tone!—and they turned it and twisted it, and went from one key to another, playing into each other's hands. Svengali taking the lead; and fugued and canoned and counterpointed and battledored and shuttlecocked it, high and low, soft and loud, in minor, in pizzicato, and in sordino—adagio, andante, allegretto, scherzo—and exhausted all its possibilities of beauty; till their susceptible audience of three was all but crazed with delight and wonder; and the masterful Ben Bolt, and his ever-tender Alice, and his too submissive friend, and his old schoolmaster so kind and so true, and his long-dead school-mates, and the rustic porch and the mill, and the slab of granite so gray,

"And the dear little nook
By the clear running brook," were all magnified into a strange, almost holy poetic dignity and splendor quite undreamed of by whoever wrote the words and music of that unsophisticated little song, which has touched so many simple British hearts that don't know any better—and among them, once, that of the present scribe—long, long ago!

"Sacrepleu! il choue plen, le Checko, hein?" said Svengali, when they had brought this wonderful double improvisation to a climax and a close. "C'est mon elefe! che le fais chanter sur son fiolon, c'est comme si c'etait moi qui chantais! ach! si ch'etais pour teux sous de voix, che serais le bremier chanteur du monte! I cannot sing!" he continued. (I will translate him into English, without attempting to translate his accent, which is a mere matter of judiciously transposing p's and b's, and t's and d's, and f's and v's and g's and k's, and turning the soft French j into sch, and a pretty language into an ugly one.)

"I cannot sing myself, I cannot play the violin, but I can teach—hein, Gecko? And I have a pupil—hein, Gecko?—la petite Honorine," and here he leered all round with a leer that was not engaging. "The world shall hear of la petite Honorine some day—hein, Gecko? Listen all—this is how I teach la petite Honorine! Gecko, play me a little accompaniment in pizzicato."

And he pulled out of his pocket a kind of little flexible flageolet (of his own invention, it seems), which he screwed together and put to his lips, and on this humble instrument he played "Ben Bolt," while Gecko accompanied him, using his fiddle as a guitar, his adoring eyes fixed in reverence on his master.

And it would be impossible to render in any words the deftness, the distinction, the grace, power, pathos, and passion with which this truly phenomenal artist executed the poor old twopenny tune on his elastic penny whistle—for it was little more—such thrilling, vibrating, piercing tenderness, now loud and full, a shrill scream of anguish, now soft as a whisper, a mere melodic breath, more human almost than the human voice itself, a perfection unattainable even by Gecko, a master, on an instrument which is the acknowledged king of all!

So that the tear which had been so close to the brink of Little Billee's eye while Gecko was playing now rose and trembled under his eyelid and spilled itself down his nose; and he had to dissemble and surreptitiously mop it up with his little finger as he leaned his chin on his hand, and cough a little husky, unnatural cough—pour se donner une contenance!

He had never heard such music as this, never dreamed such music was possible. He was conscious, while it lasted, that he saw deeper into the beauty, the sadness of things, the very heart of them, and their pathetic evanescence, as with a new, inner eye—even into eternity itself, beyond the veil—a vague cosmic vision that faded when the music was over, but left an unfading reminiscence of its having been, and a passionate desire to express the like some day through the plastic medium of his own beautiful art.

And then—well, I happen to forget what sort of day this particular day turned into at about six of the clock.

If it was decently fine, the most of them went off to dine at the Restaurant de la Couronne, kept by the Pere Trin, in the Rue de Monsieur, who gave you of his best to eat and drink for twenty sols Parisis, or one franc in the coin of the empire. Good distending soups, omelets that were only too savory, lentils, red and white beans, meat so dressed and sauced and seasoned that you didn't know whether it were beef or mutton—flesh, fowl, or good red herring—or even bad, for that matter—nor very greatly care.

And just the same lettuce, radishes, and cheese of Gruyere or Brie as you got at the Trois Freres Provencaux (but not the same butter!). And to wash it all down, generous wine in wooden "broes"—that stained a lovely aesthetic blue everything it was spilled over.

And you hobnobbed with models, male and female, students of law and medicine, painters and sculptors, workmen and blanchisseuses and grisettes, and found them very good company, and most improving to your French, if your French was of the usual British kind, and even to some of your manners, if these were very British indeed. And the evening was innocently wound up with billiards, cards, or dominos at the Cafe du Luxembourg opposite, or at the Theatre du Luxembourg, in the Rue de Madame, to see funny farces with screamingly droll Englishmen in them; or, still better, at the Jardin Bullier (la Closerie des Lilas), to see the students dance the cancan, or try and dance it yourself, which is not so easy as it seems; or, best of all, at the Theatre de l'Odeon, to see some piece of classical repertoire.

Or again, if it rained, and Paris through the studio window loomed lead-colored, with its shiny slate roofs under skies that were ashen and sober, and the wild west wind made woful music among the chimney-pots, and little gray waves ran up the river the wrong way, and the Morgue looked chill and dark and wet, and almost uninviting (even to three healthy-minded young Britons), they would resolve to dine and spend a happy evening at home.

Little Billee, taking with him three francs (or even four), would dive into back streets and buy a yard or so of crusty new bread, well burned on the flat side, a fillet of beef, a litre of wine, potatoes and onions, butter, a little cylindrical cheese called "bondon de Neufchatel," tender curly lettuce, with chervil, parsley, spring onions, and other fine herbs, and a pod of garlic, which would be rubbed on a crust of bread to flavor things with.

Taffy would lay the cloth English-wise, and also make the salad, for which, like everybody else I ever met, he had a special receipt of his own (putting in the oil first and the vinegar after), and indeed his salads were quite as good as everybody else's.

The Laird, bending over the stove, would cook the onions and beef into a savory Scotch mess so cunningly that you could not taste the beef for the onions—nor always the onions for the garlic!

And they would dine far better than at le Pere Trin's, far better than at the English Restaurant in the Rue de la Madeleine—better than anywhere else on earth!

And after dinner, what coffee, roasted and ground on the spot, what pipes and cigarettes of "caporal," by the light of the three shaded lamps, while the rain beat against the big north window, and the wind went howling round the quaint old mediaeval tower at the corner of the Rue Vieille des Mauvais Ladres (the old street of the bad lepers), and the damp logs hissed and crackled in the stove!

What jolly talk into the small hours! Thackeray and Dickens again, and Tennyson and Byron (who was "not dead yet" in those days); and Titian and Velasquez, and young Millais and Holman Hunt (just out); and Monsieur Ingres and Monsieur Delacroix, and Balzac and Stendahl and George Sand; and the good Dumas! and Edgar Allan Poe; and the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome. . . .

Good, honest, innocent, artless prattle—not of the wisest, perhaps, nor redolent of the very highest culture (which, by the way, can map as well as make), nor leading to any very practical result; but quite pathetically sweet from the sincerity and fervor of its convictions, a profound belief in their importance, and a proud trust in their life-long immutability.

Oh, happy days and happy nights, sacred to art and friendship! oh, happy times of careless impecuniosity, and youth and hope and health and strength and freedom—with all Paris for a playground, and its dear old unregenerate Latin quarter for a workshop and a home!

And, up to then, no kill-joy complications of love!

No, decidedly no! Little Billee had never known such happiness as this, never even dreamed of its possibility.

TENNIS TOURNEY AT HIGH SCHOOL BEING PLANNED

Glendale Net Artists Prepare for Coming Year, Prospects Good

Plans are being formulated by Bob Laird, captain of this year's tennis team, and Coach Hayhurst for an interclass elimination tournament at Glendale High school. The reason for this tournament is to create interest in tennis and also to narrow down the number of prospects for the varsity team next spring.

Last year there was such a number of would-be-tennis sharks who entered the round robin that it was not completed in good enough time to help materially in making up the team. It is probable that the first fifteen or twenty in this tournament will be the only ones eligible to the team tryout tournament next spring.

The tournament will be conducted on the elimination plan. That is, the first two will play each other two out of three full sets and the winner will then play the winner of the next pair. All interested must hand their names and class to Bob Laird before next Friday so that he can arrange the schedule. If Bob Laird cannot be found they must be given to Wayne Maxwell.

Several new prospects have shown up for this year's tennis team, among them are Llewellyn White, who went to Glendale High two years ago, and Francis Hardey. White is a left hander who has some strokes very similar to Houser, Alhambra's great racket star. As a left hander presents quite a bit different style of strokes from the right handed player, White is considered a great addition to the Glendale racket wielders.

Three of last year's team have or are about to graduate. Bob Stanford and Howard Wimmer graduated last June and although they are post-graduating they will not be able to play. Lyle McAllister who was fifth man last year will graduate in February and so he also is cut out of running for the team.

Bob Laird and Tommy Woods are therefore the only letter men who are left this year. Bob has been keeping well up in practice during the summer and is faster and surer of his strokes than he was last year.

Wayne Maxwell and Llewellyn White are considered to be in the running for good places on the team at the present time. Maxwell has certainly developed during the summer and he has cultivated a good many strong strokes. Owen Miles showed good form last year but has not kept up in practice.

Among other runners up are Lee, Osborne, Robinson, and Scoville. These fellows are all showing form and are working hard to get a good start for the year.

It is rumored that there will be good facilities for tennis at the new high school. With a prospect of eight single courts of first class type, all tennis fans will be overjoyed.

It is of interest that two G. U. H. S. tennis sharks went up to the semi-finals in the city doubles tournament last summer. The doubles team was composed of Bob Stanford and Llewellyn White.

Football Was One Continuous Affray

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(United Press).—There will be no more international football games on Angel Island for the immigrants—indeed not and indeed no, there will be none. Immigration Commissioner John D. Nagle thought a football game might pop up the immigrants and teach them something of American ways.

A team of Russians versus Chinese was selected and the game played without any murders, but when the players left the field they did not stop playing. Oh, my, no! A little American ways was not enough. Now every time a Chinaman sees a Russian he makes a flying leap. The barracks threatened to be a shambles.

There will be no more football games—African golf and croquet are being contemplated now as less likely to lead to international complications.

MIDGETS DEFEAT VAN NUYS HIGH LIGHTWEIGHTS

Glendale High School's lightweight footballers journeyed to Van Nuys yesterday, where they engaged in combat with the lightweight squad of that city, emerging victorious by a 14 to 0 score. Coach Butterfield expressed himself as being well pleased with the showing of his charges. On the defensive he proved to be the real stuff, holding the valley lads time after time. As an offensive team they were all there, tearing right through the Van Nuys line for yards. This is the first game of the season for the Midgets.

DOPESTERS SEEM TO SPLIT OVER POMONA

Some Predict Sagehens Wear, Others Say They Are Strong

Doping out the Pomona College football chances is a difficult job. Some say the Sagehens are as weak as pink tea, while others claim that they will be the real stuff, fighting team, and have a good chance to cop the Conference rag. Here is what two dopsters, writing in different publications, say about Pomona. This is the first one:

"From present appearances chances of Pomona College duplicating its performances of last year, that of winning the conference football title, are as dull as a rainy day on New Years. With such men as Lewis Leesure apparently out of the line-up, the hopes of Sagehen followers for another championship eleven are either unfounded or do not exist.

"According to all dope on the subject, the line will represent the center of weakness. Scott, Parkhill, Thomas, Carter, Edwards and McCully, all subs and second string men, will argue it out among themselves for positions on the line, while green players will demonstrate their ability as tackles.

"Both ends will also be scenes of green material with Hill, Morgan, Kiem and Stafford on the tryout list. One of the probable coming luminations is Eaton, youthful javelin expert, who has been transferred from the backfield to one of the flank posts.

"A dangerous quartet, Merritt, Clark, Bell and Stone will hold the center of attractions behind the front wall. All four men have had enough experience to cause opponents no title trouble and their speed may counterbalance the weaker points of the team."

Here is another:

"Pomona college will have the most powerful backfield she has had for four years. And that is not a rash assumption, either. When the Sagehens run up against the University of Southern California cohorts, a week from next Saturday, they are going to show the Troanjs a real fight.

"Bell, at fullback, is showing up exceedingly well. His 180 pounds of brute strength will make him one of the best line plungers Nixon has ever had. This week during scrimmage "Borey" has had things his own way consistently. He has also been pulling off some stellar toe work. A majority of the time his punts have been averaging from 60.

"Filling the half positions are Clark, McCully, Goodson and Stone. Clark was one of the flashiest runners in the Conference last year. His consistent gains did much to bring Nixon's men the championship, and without a doubt he is in still better shape this season. Stone was on the squad that went to Hawaii and saw some good work. He is rather light but is fast."

What will Pomona do this year? We pass.

WHAT IS GAME PROTECTION?

Most everyone now understands that the absolute protection of all game, except during a short open season in the fall, is necessary. A good many game commissioners and game wardens are beginning to see that their main job is game production, and the education of the public about protection and propagation, rather than the creation of a force of detectives who sneak around the backwoods communities trying to arrest people at so much net—per arrest

ATHLETICS WILL BE FEATURED AT LEGION CONCLAVE

Nearly Fifty Events Are Included in Legion Athletic Program

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Prominent athletes from all parts of the country will participate in the American Legion's Olympic games to be held at the national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, according to Legion national officials who recently announced the program for the meet. Nearly fifty events have been included in the program, which will embrace a track and field meet, aquatic sports, golf, tennis, and rifle tournaments and exhibitions of baseball, basketball, football, boxing and wrestling.

Joie Ray, "miler," will try to regain his record for that distance, beaten by an athlete of Sweden, who clipped two seconds off the mile record. Charles W. Paddock, who holds most world's records in the sprints, will compete as will Morris Kirksey, a Leland Stanford University star.

Thirty-six medals, four cups and numerous trophies will be awarded to the winners of swimming and diving contests. The golf tournament will attract many legionnaires who have taken part in national competitions, it is believed. In a number of states, legionnaires are state champions or low medalists. Cups and medals will be awarded to individual entries.

The tennis tournament will be in charge of "Little Bill" Johnston, the famous net artist. Singles and doubles championship classes have been decided upon with cups for the winners. Rifle teams of six men each will be sent from many departments and posts to compete in a shoot to be held on the Leona Heights range. The principal event on the baseball program will be a game between the winning team of the Pacific Coast League and an all-Legion team to be composed to such stars as Harry Heilman, Jimmy Cavaney, Sam Bohne, "Dutch" Reuther, Willie Kamm and others. A game between teams representing the army and navy will interest football fans. Teams from California cities, Minneapolis, Kansas City and other points will contest in the basket ball tournament. Will Ritichie, former world's champion lightweight boxer, and Jimmie Britt, who was defeated by Battling Nelson, are among the ring stars who will appear during the boxing contests.

DONS OF PERALTA PUT ON FIESTA DE LA LAGUNA

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 26 (United Press).—Thousands of visitors have been attracted to Oakland this week by the first east bay community festival, La Fiesta de la Laguna, under the auspices of the Dens of Peralta.

The festival is the first combined celebration of the days of the Peralta rancho by the east bay and is planned to become an annual Mardi Gras for the region. The names of the communities taking part have been woven into the word Obapesla (Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, San Leandro, Albany, etc.), all of which cities now are built on the original Spanish land grant to the Peralta family.

Five hundred Whiskerinos and Whiskerinettes of Sacramento are expected tomorrow in full regalia of the forty-niners to take part in the Dons of Peralta celebration. The Whiskerinos are to parade through the streets here, their own '49 band playing.

The program for the celebration ranges from a flower show and pageant, to a boxing tournament, with a huge parade, athletic games, grand ball and dramatic play at the Greek theater at Berkeley. A community chorus of 1000 voices ushered in the celebration on Monday night.

SETTING A TRAP FOR LYNX

In setting the steel trap for the lynx it is best to make some kind of pen with the bait arranged so that the animal will have to go over the trap in reaching for it. Some scent, will be of advantage and a "flag" will not come in amiss. However, a good piece of meat bait such as partridge or rabbit works to a better result, especially if the ground immediately near the set be scattered over with a few feathers. The size of the trap should be a number three as the lynz, while not a hard animal to hold when once caught, has a very large foot and will spring a smaller trap without any harm to himself.

FOXY MR. SQUIRREL

The squirrel is the brainiest of all the small outdoor tribe that we hunters seek. The more I study him, the greater my conviction is of this fact. When a fellow starts out still-hunting the squirrel he finds that he is matching his wits with an animal which can entertain him royally. At least I have found this to be true.

LEADING AMERICAN 3-YEAR-OLDS WHICH MAY RACE FOR RIGHT TO MEET PAPYRUS, ENGLISH DERBY WINNER

Horsemen and racing experts are demanding that Harry F. Sinclair's Zev meet Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own at the Derby distance before the Jockey club committee decides which colt is the best 3-year-old in the United States and as such meet Papyrus, winner of the English Derby, in the international race for $100,000 at Belmont Park on October 20. Many followers of the turf are unable to make their own decision after seeing Zev win the Lawrence Realization and My Own finish in front in the National Trial Sweepstakes. Zev could not start in the later event because of a slight injury sustained in the Lawrence. Zev is shown above at the left and My Own at the right.

ARRANGE DETAILS FOR THE 1923 BIG SERIES

World's Series to Open October 10 in Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The 1923 world's series will open on Wednesday, October 10, at the Yankee stadium, home of the three-time American League champions, and greatest baseball park in the country, regardless of whether the New York Giants or the Cincinnati Reds win the fight to represent the National League in the annual classic.

This was decided today at a meeting of local club officials with Commissioner K. M. Landis, when Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, won the toss to decide which league should have the honor of opening the series.

Last year the Yankees lost the toss and also the series to their Gotham rivals.

Should the Giants stand off the eleventh-hour challenge of the Reds and capture the pennant, thus making the series an all-metropolitan affair for the third successive year, the title games will alternate between the Yankee stadium and the Polo Grounds, until one club wins the necessary majority of four contests.

In the event that Cincinnati upsets calculations and wins the flag by a miracle finish, the first two games will be played in the Yankee stadium and the next two at Redland field, with a probable lapse of a day for the shifting of battlefields.

The scale of prices at both local parks will be similar to that of last year at the Polo Grounds, where the entire series was contested. These prices are $6 for box seats, $5 for reserved seats, $3 for general unreserved admission and $1 for bleachers. The scale that will prevail at Redland field, in the event that Cincinnati wins, will be determined later.

The games will start at 2 p. m., the same as last year, it was further decided.

Those who attended today's meeting, besides Commissioner Landis and Col. Ruppert, included Edward C. Barrow, secretary, and business manager of the Yankees; and Charles Stoneham and J. J. Tierney, president and secretary respectively of the Giants. The Cincinnati club was not represented.

GORDON WHITE IS GOING GREAT WITH CAL. SQUAD

Gordon White, star fullback with the Southern Branch Cubs last season, and known as the conference iron man, played a whale of a game Saturday, according to Coach Cline of the Branch. Jimmy just returned from the Cal. Varsity-Alumni game and states that White "did his stuff" at short-side or left tackle, his new position.

VOLLEY BALL IS POPULAR AMONG GIRLS AT HIGH

Volley ball is becoming popular among the girls at Glendale High school. Six new courts have been provided this season, in response for the additional demand for the sport.

An inter-class tournament, such as was staged last year, is being considered. Last year this tournament was a great success, and from the winning teams were chosen the members of the school volley ball team. The players this season will have to be chosen directly from the gymnasium classes, because of the different arrangement necessitated by the half-day sessions.

Most of the members of the last year's school team are back this season. They include Barbra Kranz, Annie Munroe, Frances Drake, Olive Gulick, Dorothy Van Osdoll and Dorothy Cramer. Glendale should produce a first class team this season with so many stars back.

TRIPLE PLAY FEATURED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—A triple play featured San Francisco's 5-to-2 victory over Salt Lake. In the third inning after Jenkins and Meyers had singled, Wilhoit popped to Ellison and the runners were caught off first and second base. Five hits and three runs in the sixth caused Meyers to be replaced on the mound by Coumbe, who finished the game.

JACK DEMPSEY WON PLACE IN PUBLIC'S HEART

Farrell Says Champ Is More Popular Today Than Ever

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (United Press).—Jack Dempsey once remarked during a general discussion of his business that the life of a heavyweight champion was anything but rosy, because he could have so few friends upon whom he could depend.

"The tough thing about this business is that you have to lose to find out who are really your friends," Dempsey said. "The real test comes when you are defeated and you call the roll of alleged friends and find out how many of them have not gone to the winner's dressing room."

The champion's theory was proved at least partially during his fight with Luis Firpo. He didn't lose, of course, but came nearer to defeat than any fighter could and escape with a victory.

Dempsey had to be knocked clear out of the ring, punched to his knees twice and pounded all over the ring to attain the position as a real popular champion.

Perhaps the most pleasing experience Dempsey brought out of that hectic evening came when he heard the pack yelling wildly: "Come on, Jack!" as he was pulling himself into the ring and when he realized that at last he had some big part of the public back of him.

Sitting in the front row of the ringside seats, back of the press pit, was a boxing manager, who had been Dempsey's most bitter critic, a man who had gone out of his way to express his bitter contempt of the champion as a personality and a fighter. He said when he came to the ringside before the fight that he had paid his way into a fight for the first time in his life in the hope that he could see Dempsey "knocked dead."

When Dempsey was knocked out of the ring down into the lap of a sport writer, when he pulled himself gamely back into the ring and when he stood almost helpless against the ropes within one good punch of being knocked out, this fight manager, who had come to see him "knocked dead," was the loudest among those who were shouting in a frenzy: "Come on, Jack; come on!"

After the fight this same manager remarked that he was for Dempsey. "That fellow is a great fighter. I don't believe there ever was a greater fighter. He's game and he's got a heart as big as a mountain. I was wrong about him in other things," he said.

THINK FIRST

It is not alone one friend, but lots of friends that the forest needs. In fact it needs the friendship of every man who at any time sets foot beneath the boughs of one of her mighty trees.

Befriending the forest only means a little thoughtfulness. Before you leave a campfire, before you drop a match, before you discard a cigar or cigarette, think! It is a simple request, but one that carries great import.

CUB PEAGREENERS LOOK LIKE THE REAL STUFF

Southern Branch Freshmen Showing Up in Great Style

Scattered among the gold of the Varsity football squad, two groups of emeralds, the pick of the Freshman class, are doing their stuff under the able instruction of Coaches Harry Trotter and "Cap" Bell out at Southern Branch. The big job these mentors have on hand is knocking the rudiments of the "Smith System" into the receptive minds of the above-mentioned aspiring athletes. Said job is not the easiest to be found on the back lot.

The team which will represent the first year men this season will be constructed from material gathered from all sections of the country. Men who wore moleskins on the snowy gridirons of the east and under the scorching sun of the south will play side by side with men who gained their experience in balmy California. This means that the dozen or so styles of play which these men have used in the past must be forgotten and all energy expended in an effort to mold a "Smith style" team.

Although fairly green as far as experience goes, the two big assets, spirit and fight, predominate the squad. Among the 75 men out each night one can discern no little quantity of avoirdupois and Coach Trotter is confident that if the men can get some speed into their charging he will have a real squad. There are a great many more men out for the backfield than are out for line positions and a radical shift will soon be made with the purpose of balancing the squad.

SENATORS HAND ANGELS GOOD LICKING

Seraps Lose First Game 3 to 2; Seals Win From Bees

Wearied by their series with San Francisco last week, in which they lost all resemblance of a baseball team, the Sacramento Senators came down to Los Angeles yesterday and cleaned up on the Angels by the score of 3 to 2 in the opening game of the series. It may also be mentioned that the Seraphs surrendered their last series to Salt Lake, and were feeling no better than the Sacs.

Both teams scored in the first. In the fifth the Senators grabbed another, while the Angels came across in the seventh, evening up the score. Sacramento would not stand for such impudence from a second division team, and put over the winning run in the eighth canto, ending the scoring for the day.

Jones, on the mound for the Angels allowed the Sacs eight hits, just one less than Chief Yellowhorse, the opposing hurler, permitted the Seraphs. However, the Indian was able to tighten up in the pinches, while on such occasions Jones was no more difficult to hit than usual.

The score:

Sacramento	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0	3
Base hits	1	1	0	1	2	1	1	1	0	8
Los Angeles	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	2
Base hits	2	0	1	0	1	1	3	0	1	9

SPORT-O-GRAMS

By FRANCIS WILKERSON READ

THAT ALUMNI GAME

In these columns last night we remarked that the California varsity "made the grade" by defeating the alumni eleven Saturday. Now comes a critic from the north, who, in a dispatch to a Los Angeles paper, states that the Blue and Gold has lost its driving power, and that the Saturday game is the poorest exhibition of football ever put on by a Bruin team since Andy Smith has taken charge at Berkeley.

This critic admits that the game was slowed up by the two teams having the same signals and plays, and that the Bears had had very little practice. He says, "Legitimate as these excuses may be, they do not solve the showing of the varsity." He criticises every play and move of both teams, and even insinuates that the game was fixed—that the alumni eleven held themselves back in order that the varsity may cop the contest.

To us such a representation of the Cal.-Alumni game seems to be utterly inexcusable. When all things are taken into consideration, can it be said that the Golden Bears put up a bad game? The All-Star team broke through their line several times, to be sure, but they were held when they got within scoring distance. On the offensive, the Bears could not score a touchdown, but "Spud" Spalding came through with a place kick in the second quarter—the only score of the game. Andy Smith used thirty-five players during the game, and all of them showed up well. As to the insinuations of a fixed game, they may be dismissed without serious consideration.

That Andy Smith is going to have a difficult job to build up a wonder team equal to those of the past three years is admitted on all sides. He has lost a flock of stars—but more are being developed. Elmer Henderson, coach of the U. S. C. eleven, writing in a sporting monthly, states that Andy Smith "will have the greatest team he has ever developed at California." Anyway, we will have to wait a while to get a real line on the Blue and Gold eleven. Saturday they will play St. Mary's, and have another chance to show their stuff. Then the bugs will have another chance to judge the power of the California varsity of 1923.

LOTS OF GAMES SATURDAY

Football will come into its own throughout the nation Saturday. Most of the contests to be played this week will be practice affairs, but nevertheless they will give the fans a real squint at the teams, the first of the season. For ten months or so the gridiron sport has been in the discard—Saturday it will come into its own.

Local fans will be most interested in the home games. At the Exposition Park stadium the U. S. C. will play the Caltech eleven. The Engineers are not nearly so strong as the Trojans, but are rated as one of the contenders for the local conference rag. Other teams of the Southern California conference, including the Southern Branch, may swing into action Saturday. Definate plans have not been made for these games, but negotiations are under way to secure a number of such contests.

The Golden Bears of the University of California will take on the St. Mary's eleven on the gridiron. It is not expected that the game will be a close one, but all eyes will be upon the California team, for each contest that the Golden Bears play from now until the opening of the Conference season will be closely watched by critics and fans.

Battles are being scheduled in several of the eastern colleges. Pen State will play the Lebanon Valley College. The University of Pittsburgh eleven will play Bucknell at Lewisburg. Pennsylvania faces Franklin and Marshall at Philadelphia, Washington and Jefferson goes in against Bethany, the Army opens against the University of Tennessee, while the Navy will play William and Mary at Annapolis. Numerous other games are listed for Saturday—these are only a few. Football is starting on one of the most interesting season of its history. Here's to a great season for the gridiron sport for 1923!

Safety for the Things You Hold Dear

—Stocks and bonds are not the only things that call for the sure protection of a safety deposit box.

—You have other possessions—heirlooms and priceless tokens—the loss of which would cut deeper, perhaps, than the loss of replaceable securities.

—Think what it would mean to you if these treasures were destroyed by fire or stolen by thieves.

—Do not run the risk of such a misfortune a single day longer. Rent a box in our fire and burglar-proof vault now. Then, whatever happens, you will know that its contents are safe.

Paris Bishop to Talk to Missionary Group

[By Associated Press]

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 26.—Bishop Edgar T. Blake, resident bishop of Paris, France, will address the annual general executive meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society, to be held here October 18-23, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Evelyn Riley Nicholson, president.

The society has a total membership of 618,732, which includes auxiliaries 377,109; Young People and Standard Bearers 83,498; King's Heralds 63,006, and Little Light Bearers 75,119.

Bishop Blake will give some of his experiences while attending the Living Church conference at Moscow, Russia. Other prominent speakers on the program include Miss Anna Gordon, president of the World's Woman Christian Temperance Union; Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America; Prof. O. H. Smith, Nanking, China, and Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, secretary of the Chinese Christian association.

EVANGELINE OAK IN FILM PLAY AT THE GLENDALE

David Wark Griffith photographed a number of exterior scenes along the famous Teche in western Louisiana for his new feature motion picture, "The White Rose," which has its last showing today at the Glendale theater.

"The White Rose" is a Southern story and it was quite fitting that Mr. Griffith shroud select a region made immortal by Longfellow in "Evangeline." The French Acadians, who were expelled from Nova Scotia and sought new homes among the Louisiana bayous, have left numerous descendants in the Teche country.

Mr. Griffith made scenes all along the bayou beginning at Franklin and taking in the settlements of Charenton, Jeanerette, New Iberia, St. Martinsville, St. John and Abbeville.

Probably some of the most picturesque estates in the United States are to be found along the Teche, notably the grand Porter home, "Oaklawn"; the Weeks Hall estate, "Shadows of the Teche"; the J. B. Levert estate at St. John, and the Simon estate at St. Martinsville.

On the bank of the river and just under the shadow of the Simon estate is the "Evangeline" oak. The natives declare that it was beneath this tree that "Evangeline" slept when "Gabriel" passed unnoticed in his boat. Mr. Griffith filmed one of his episodes for "The White Rose" with this oak in the background.

DYNAMIC LITTLE STAR, PRISCILLA DEAN, AT T. D. & L.

PRISCILLA DEAN in "DRIFTING"

Tense, thrilling, teeming with interest, alive with action. It's genuine drama through and through.

Also five acts of good vaudeville, by arrangement with Orpheum and Pantages circuits.

"SILENT PARTNER" COMES TODAY TO THE GATEWAY

Some wives dig into a man's pocket for money, others make him dig. If you wanted to cure your husband of gambling in stocks, and at the same time keep his money in the family, how would you do it?

Leatrice Joy, as the wife of a stock gambler, shows one way in the intensely interesting Paramount domestic drama of New York life, "The Silent Partner," which will be the big feature at the Gateway theater today.

In this Charles Maigne production, Owen Moore takes the part of a small-salaried clerk in a stock broker's office. When he suddenly gets the speculation fever, success turns his head. He resigns his steady position and moves from a modest kitchenette flat to exclusive Park avenue apartments.

How woman's wit prepares for the crash that comes—how she stands by her husband even though he neglects her in the excitement of piling up newly acquired wealth—is revealed in the film version of this human Saturday Evening Post serial of Maximilian Foster's, adapted by Sada Cowan.

One pugilist never offers to fight another just for fun.

You can buy some people dirt cheap if there are no other bidders.

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE TOWN OF IMPO SIBLEVILLE

I live in the town of Impo sibleville, a villag eccentric and nice,
Where no matter how hot is e midsummer da the iceman leaves plenty f ice.
The dairyman never once v ters the milk, b leaves yellow cream in h wake,
The baker gives always a fu loaf of bread an the butcher serves porter house steak.
The sewing society there never meets unless the is something to sew,
Good deeds are the coin of the realm and no ma but may settle in millionaire's row.
It lies in the valley 'twixt Honesty Flats and th top of Millennium Hill,
And is peopled by poets and dreamers and such is the Town of Impossibleville.

If you'd reach the cool shades of Impossibleville, you must start on your journey in youth,
Turn aside from the main-traveled road and set foot on the little used pathway of Truth.
Pass on past the town of Fair Play and Don't Fret till you climb up the Golden Rule Heights,
And then you may look down the Vale of Good Cheer and see all these wonderful sights.
But many who set out with hope and light hearts determined to reach this fair spot
In someway have strayed from the little-used path and are lost in the wastes of dry rot.
But it's right over there, 'twixt the town of Fair Play and the top of Millennium Hill,
And it's peopled with poets and dreamers and such, is the town of Impossibleville.

ARTIST PRINCE GIVES VASE TO HONOR SAINT

[By Associated Press]

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 26. — A handsome silver vase, designed and wrought by Prince Eugene, brother of King Gustav, was the contribution of Sweden's "Artist Prince" to the recent commemoration services for St. Bridget, Sweden's first great international figure. The services, held in the ancient town of Vadstena, home of St. Bridget and seat of the Brigittine convent she founded, attracted wide attention.

Tributes were paid to the religious leader's memory by Selma Lagerlof, greatest of Sweden's women novelists and Dr. Nathan Soderblom, Lutheran archbishop of Sweden. St. Bridget, or Birgitta, was born in Sweden in 1303, of noble family. On the death of her husband, she turned to religious service and founded the famous convent. Her books of prophesies and revelations are Swedish classics.

SAFE DYNAMITED

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Sept. 26.—(United Press) Police have become inured to the ignominy of having the office safe robbed and the sergeant's pockets looted by thieves, but it takes a braver man to dynamite a safe within a few hundred yards of a state penitentiary walls. That is what thieves did here who robbed the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry Company office of $1000. The company's wharf and office is only 300 yards from San Quentin Penitentiary. The thieves left a short note of thanks for the "help" the company's funds would be.

GORDON'S DOLLAR DAY INTRIGUES FEMININE BUYER

Gordon's "Dollar Day," the last Thursday in each month, has become a fixed institution of that enterprising store, which is located at 119 North Brand, and has become a fixed event in the memory of Glendale's women buyers. The bargains offered at one, two, three or four for a dollar are many of them most striking, as the prices are reduced sometimes 100 percent or more, just to give the ladies a chance to make real savings. Today's Daily Press contains an announcement of the September "Dollar Day" which will command the instant attention and careful perusal by every contemplating purchaser of feminine wear.
